Forever Came Today

Seven years of frustration ended when the Razorbacks beat Texas for the first time since 1971. The Horns scored first; but the Hogs matched them with a 28-yard touchdown romp by Gary Anderson. The Porkers took command of the game in the second half with a touchdown and a field goal. Late in the fourth quarter, Texas pulled within three on a fluke play. However, John Goodson's game-tying field goal was no good, and the Razorbacks ran out the clock. Coach Monte Kiffin exemplified the spirit of the fans when he tackled Jim Howard in a fit of joy. For the players and the fans, it seemed as though forever came today.

Magic is much more than rabbits pulled out of hats. It's wonder. It's optimism. It's a miracle. It's that essence in everyone's mind which advances clothes to right, food to exquisite, places to romantic, and people to beautiful.

Magic is galvanizing attention when you walk into a room.

- surprising yourself with an extravagant emotion —
like falling in love.
- spending money on flowers when you can't afford to.
- changing your mind when you know someone else is right.
- being naive about something.
- being idealistic about anything.
- wearing red on a rainy day.
- engineering a chance meeting.
- being rich and not looking it.
- being poor and looking rich.
- being confident and looking confident.
- giving away something you treasure.
- receiving something you really like.
- ignoring reality without being irresponsible.
- knowing when to say "Goodbye".
- knowing when to say "Hello."
- being becomingly modest.
- being both ambitious and tender.
- understanding that the fleeting moment is all.

said Watkins, adding that Reeves had no way of knowing he over

"It boils down to what months

The prosecution had as its first witness Senator Bobby Pryor.
Pryor was asked to read a letter he had received from the UA Board of Trustees which stated that the board met June 15 and 29.

Kinion, who was chairman of the Budget Review Committee
(BRC) said he worked in a con-

D.C. during the summer. He said the BRC didn't approve anything

John Blair, chairman of the SAC, was the next witness. He said only the ASG president is re-

Into the Sunset

And so Rick Reeves is off to California and the presidential campaign of Senator Edward Kennedy.

With the Chappaquidick tragedy, a law school cheating scandal, and less-than-perfect appearances before the television cameras, it seemed Kennedy had enough problems.

Now he has Reeves.

Reeves failure to make Associated Student Government (ASG) anything more than a figurehead, seems to qualify him perfectly for the task of Kennedy's lifeless version of Camelot.

As a parting remark, we want to point out the appropriateness of Reeves waltzing off into the sunset to revitalize the ailing Kennedy campaign.

Reeves should be able to compliment Kennedy's losing with the ability he gained in dealing with his own humorous problems here at the university.

But to Teddy, we just have one thing to say: "It pays to recruit your campaign staff carefully."

And as Rick Reeves will quickly tell him: "Things can always get worse."

SG candidates debate, air views

by PATRICIA MAY
Staff Writer

Representation of minority in the Senate, the ticket and a clique in student government were the major topics debated by the audience to the Associated Student Government candidates during the Monday night forum.

Steve Douglas, candidate for ASG treasurer, first addressed the audience with his platform.

Douglas, candidate for treasurer, emphasized that the position isn't a "high one, it is a job and an effort person is needed to fill the on Featherston, his opponent said she would like to see money given to A and B. He said she supported a foundation fund whereby could donate money to be scholarships for middle-class students. Tom Demont, presidential candidate, said his vision involved the directing of the ASG. The important thing, he said, is to "distribute money fairly to the different factions." He noted that the ASG has been a "failure"—students don't know how or where to sign up for committees or even that committees are open.

It's ASG's responsibility to go to the students, he said.

Beverly Matthis, also a candidate for vice president, said the job is an administrative one. "Things are being run by a select few," she said, and should be opened up to the entire campus.

Margie Young, the only candidate for ASG secretary, said she believed apathy was a "very severe problem." Young said she believed it's important for students to know how their money is being spent. More student input is important.

Paul Moore, one of the three candidates for ASG president, said he's "the best man for the students." He said he's seen things from the student's point of view during his four years on campus.

Moore, who's not involved with ASG, gave "one pervasive promise"—to give his best for the students.

Steve Von Steen, ASG presidential candidate, said he doesn't consider himself part of the "clique" now running ASG. The student government only has "so much power," Von Steen said, and added he has four main goals: to try to extend the transit system, to increase representation for minority students, to develop a better ticket policy, and to begin "organizing" homecoming parades.

Susan Hannah, also an ASG presidential candidate, said she knows the functions of ASG and has a "good rapport with the administration" as a result of her work as ASG president since January.

ASG "needs to be serving the students," she added. Hannah also gave support to a student foundation fund. The groundwork has already been done and only needs to be instituted, she added. She believes the ASG budget needs to be cut. ASG doesn't need as much money as it was given this year, she added.

During a question-answer period following the statements, the candidates for treasurer were questioned about cutting the budget.

Featherston responded that she thought it would be good and noted that some organizations could be cut.

Douglas said he would have to examine the budget first and said he didn't see any reason for a budget cut if the money went to good use.

Von Steen, who is ASG treasurer, said the year's ASG budget was a $5,000 cut had been recommended.

Questions from the audience pointed out that several groups on campus who aren't represented in the ASG presidential candidates asked for their solution to the problem.

Hannah said the ASG states that "living on campus" should be represented and added that should stick with that.

Representation from the ASG is important, but many have complained that the ASG is already too large, she said.

Von Steen compared the ASG to "Pandora's Box." He said he would mend it now, he said, and look at the possibilities.

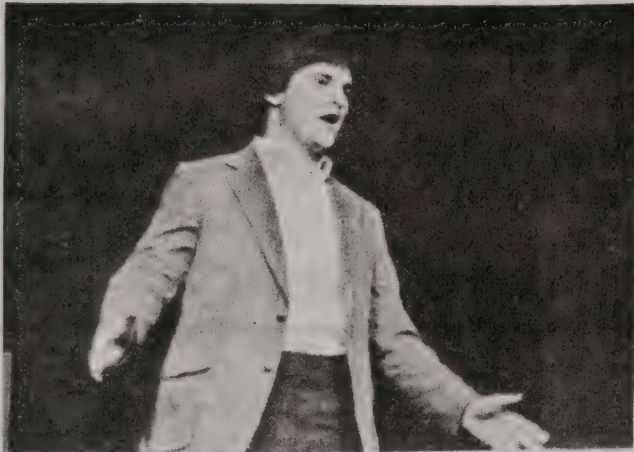

Moore said he would be amending the constitution at that point, but added he did not want to revamp the whole constitution.

The problem with the ASG ball-ticket policy is the lack of good public opinion, Hannah said. Students know what the policy was going on, she added.

Von Steen advocated that students "get out" of the ASG by distribution of tickets, that students should be in seating policies.

When questioned about the "clique" in ASG, Von Steen agreed that many people will be "moving" that new people will be in the ASG.

Hannah said she would know the senators personally so they won't speak up.

Accreditation requires engineering facilities

Accreditation requirements for the College of Engineering in the estimated $26 million project.

Construction, cited in a plan will probably begin in the fall of 1981.

Facilities Planning and Construction Director Minor G. Jr. said an accreditation in the College had determined the need for new facilities to meet the needs of engineering by the Board of Trustees by March 12.

"There are three or possibly four buildings involved," Wallace explained. "The first step would be to renovate the existing Engineering Building. Second, we would construct an addition or a separate facility with the present building to form a complex in that area."

"An engineering research facility is also needed, which wouldn't have to be located on Research facility which could also be in that complex."

Wallace said money for the project would come from the state legislature, with partial funding from each legislative session.

"We couldn't expect to get the entire sum at once," Wallace explained, "but we hope to get the first funds next January when the legislature meets."

Construction will begin when funds are available, according to Click. Swish. Tappa, tappa, tappa. Click. Swish. Tappa, tappa, tappa.

"What are you doing, Man?"

"Writing a guest editorial for the Traveler."

"Really? What on?"

"ASG."

"Hoo, hoo. Ha, ha. Hee, hee. Snicker."

"What's so funny?"

"Hoo, ha, Ha, ha, ASG, ho, ho. Hee, hee."

There is something unsettling about realizing what you're writing about is a laughing matter to some people. There's something even more unsettling about tearing the sheet of paper out of the typewriter and file-thirteen-ing it because you agree with them.

Here's the dream: ASG. Associated Student Government, right? For the students, by the students, etc., etc. It sounds good. It should work; after all, we're young adults, right?

Here's the reality: would-be politicians following their elder's footsteps. Arguing. Squabbling. Petty games. Can anyone tell us what ASG has actually accomplished this year? Or even last year?

Did they stop bill 1064? No, the RHA did.

Did they give us a nice ticket policy—make sure we students weren't being given the shaft? No, as a matter of fact, they even botched up selling the tickets. Did they, did they, did they. What have they done?

Fight? Squabble?

Oh yes, they did give us a new constitution. Where is it and when do we get read it? To vote on it?

Hmmmm.

Do you remember the re-call petitions concerning Rick Reeves? I signed that petition not because I believed for or against Reeves, but because I didn't want ASG handling the matter anymore. I had lost total faith in their ability to do anything but fight among themselves. I just didn't trust them. And I still don't.

Us. Them. Chicago. Isn't that a hell of a way to feel about a government that's supposed to represent us?

Stop and think for a minute. Do you want ASG to be responsible for something as important as voicing our views on the draft? I mean, really. Would you trust that responsibility to a junior politician? To a real politician?

"Hoo, hoo. Hee, hee. Ha, ha." you laugh.

It seems to me that some pretty critical decisions having real effects on our lives are going to be made in the near future. And frankly, I don't think a lot of our ASG people are qualified to make them. We elect them because they're political science majors or pre-law students, practicing for the day they can become real politicians. But we never really thought they'd do anything serious, did we? Just thinking about their transcripts—it'll help them out in the future, right? Good for the good ol' boys and good ol' girls.

But fun time is over. It's time to get serious and I want people in there who can do something, who are concerned and capable.

And, buddy, when I say capable, I mean capable of organizing an opposition to the draft without getting hung on every fine point of parliamentary procedure. Do we want to hear "point of order, point of order" when the federals are measuring us for uniform sizes?

Hmmmm. Why don't we hold new elections and do some hiring and firing with our ASG representatives?

"Recall elections," you ask?

You bet.

"Revamp ASG?," you ask?

You bet.

Bishop said he believed the vice president provost position approved last week for the Fayetteville campus by the Arkansas state legislature is a mistake.
Designating the head of campus as a vice president will "place this campus at a severe disadvantage relative to other campuses in Arkansas," he said.

The executive administrator must represent his campus on many occasions that a vice president may not be eligible to attend, Bishop explained. The nine major presidential organizations throughout the country offer admission only to chancellors or presidents. "I've never seen a vice president at those meetings," he noted.

The applicant pool differs with the position, Bishop said. More interest evolves from a chancellorship than from a vice presidency, he added.

The state legislature has voted down proposals creating a chancellorship for the Fayetteville campus three times in the past, he said, adding, "I think that's unfortunate."

Bishop recently noted several key needs for the Fayetteville campus and reiterated his remarks. Officials hope that $4.25 million will be released shortly to complete the renovation of Old Main. "Very much needed" office and classroom space will be available when the remodeling of the 100,000 square foot space (Old Main) is finished, Bishop said.

A new engineering building is needed to replace the "very obsolete" old one, according to Bishop. The engineering building was built around the 1920's and "won't lend itself to modern engineering." A modern laboratory and classroom building will be expensive (somewhere between $10 and $15 million), Bishop said, but renovation would be more costly and impractical.

The administration's goal is to engage an architect by March to draw plans for a new building. Plans to remodel the chemistry building are being drawn, he added.

Although Bishop admitted Mullins library is too small, he said he's also proud of the fact that 165,000 volumes were added to it during his tenure. He recently approved an additional $400,000 to purchase books. Purchase orders will be processed as soon as Hoffman, who resigned, according to the Arkansas Gazette, because he said the Board of Regents refused to accept his nominee for an interim chancellor at UH's downtown campus and thus, undermined his authority.

In a statement to the Board of Trustees on Dec. 20, Bishop said critical needs on the Fayetteville campus include "the renovation of Old Main, the construction of a new engineering building, an addition to Mullins library, completion of the Plant Science Complex and the renovation of Memorial Hall and the Chemistry Building."

Enrollment in the five campus
UA system grew from about 22,000 to nearly 33,000 during Bishop's administration, according to the Gazette story.

During Bishop's tenure, new buildings were constructed on each campus, the largest private donation in the university's history was made and a statewide coordination of agriculture involving the merger of the research and extension programs at the University of Arkansas and Arkansas State University was developed.

Bishop's emphasis on research has helped the university gain research grants; grants have increased 75 percent in the two years.

A resolution adopted by the UA Board of Trustees said Bishop had served "with great distinction." His presidency, it continues, will be remembered for his "eloquent advocacy of quality...his humane championship of greater opportunities for minorities...his ability to bring diverse groups together in working for common causes...his talented and persuasive leadership in securing unprecedented increases in public and private financial support...and the spirit of cooperation and support he exemplified."

Bishop, the 15th UA president, will receive $75,635 in his UH post. As the highest paid state employee in Arkansas, he received $59,500 at the UA.

Bishop, age 58, received a bachelor of science degree in agricultural education from Berea College in Berea, Ky.; a master of science in agricultural economics degree from the University of phase of work on the Plant Sciences Complex and an administrative services building to house the computer now stored in Hotz Hall. Hotz should be returned to the students, Bishop said.

Bishop said he hoped the men's gym would be given to ROTC upon completion of the HPER building and that the women's gym would then be torn down—"It isn't safe."

He restated the need for higher faculty and staff salaries. "I hope the university will be able to increase salaries 10 percent this year."

Raises of 15 to 20 percent are needed, Bishop said.
The university isn't in a "good competitive level...above the assistant professor level," he said.

Bishop has no complaints about the Arkansas state legislature. "I think the legislature has been very good to us," he said. "The university has fared very well." Although the university doesn't always receive everything it asks for, "no one does."

"I have nothing but high marks for the general assembly."

Bishop said he hopes someone will recognize the importance of the Fulbright Act (concerning scholarships), which, in his words, "probably promoted better understanding within the academic world worldwide" than any other act.

The Fulbright Act has given hundreds of students a chance to study abroad, Bishop said. A center for international studies acknowledging that would be an asset to the campus, he said.

Arkansas is somewhat isolated and such a center would "give us some visibility." Key areas in the center would include international economics, law, politics and history, Bishop said.

Bishop had no suggestions for student government, but expresses optimism in the students' ability to work problems out. UA students are "among the best," he said.

Looking over the panoramic view from his office window, Bishop said he would miss the hills in his Houston office. He isn't planning to entirely forget his Arkansas years—he's taking his Razorback briefcase with him.

BIOMASS CENTER PUTS UA ON THE ENERGY MAP

Biomass Center puts UA on the energy map

By MELISSA UPCHURCH
Assistant News Editor

Thanks to the largest grant it has ever received, the UA may become a leader in the development of alternate forms of fuel for the future.

Gulf Corporation extended the University a considerable grant of technology for converting cellulose into ethanol. The development of the technology, which has been researched for 16 years, had cost some $9 million when it was given to the University in August. The A and B wings of the Animal Science building have been designated as the University of Arkansas Biomass Research Center, where the study of ethanol fuels is continuing.

Dr. George H. Emert, director of the center, said the UA was chosen by Gulf for the grant over Texas or other schools because, "First, Arkansas is primarily an agricultural state and second because there is ample water for electricity. We are using municipal solid wastes, forest products wastes and agricultural wastes in this technology. We chose Arkansas because it is easy to get these feedstocks here."

DEVELOPING

Emert pointed out that although the University is running the Biomass Center, it will not be selling the products or using them for its own gain. "We're just in the business of developing the know-how and making that available for others to use. Other companies are very much interested in our research.

"One day we had about 44 calls about the Biomass Center. Today I am going to meet with several representatives of a Brazilian engineering firm. We've heard from Hoover Oil and Suburst Mining in Idaho. Our research center is putting the University, Fayetteville and the state of Arkansas in the public eye on the map," Emert said.

Although the Biomass Center deals with alcohol products, it does not produce gasoline. "What we have is the same chemical, ethanol, but we're developing the methods of getting the ethanol," Emert explained.

A UA press services release quoted Emert in a report given before the National Alcohol Fuels Commission as saying, "Alcohol fuels, especially ethanol, can contribute to the country's energy sources by using domestic, renewable resources to extend supplies of high quality liquid fuels or chemicals. It is the only alternative fuel commercially available now, and the only one likely to be available in quantity before about 1985," he said.

PRETREATMENT

Emert explained to the commission that the current emphasis in the Biomass Research Center is to improve the pretreatment of cellulose-containing materials to increase subsequent conversion to ethanol, to improve the enzyme activity of the cellulose system, to prove enzymes and yeast recycle, and most importantly, to serve as a catalyst for those industries which are willing to become equity partners in a 50-ton per day demonstration plant.

The proposed feedstock blend is composed of 75 per cent air classified as municipal solid wastes and 25 per cent pulp mill wastes. If the design assumptions are confirmed in a demonstration plant, these cellulosic wastes can be converted into 3,700 U.S. gallons per day of high purity 190-proof industrial ethanol. This is based on an assumed overall yield of 72.5 per cent of theoretical conversion to cellulose in the feed to produce alcohol.

Emert told the commission that projections of potential economics, as compared to future projections for synthetic alcohol from ethylene and industrial alcohol from corn, indicate cellulose alcohol can become competitive with alternate resources of industrial alcohol while using renewable low-cost waste raw materials.

Buses scheduled

gives students access to the bus route. The stop is across the street and up a short distance and "buses come around about every six minutes," Scott said.

Lots 72 and 73, on Razorback Road across from the Stadium, are also all-permit lots and are not heavily used. A Green-route bus stop is across from these lots too.

Students may park in the church parking lot behind the West Avenue Annex on West Street. It is served by the Brown route, which goes by about every 12 minutes.

Scott said plans are in the works for routing to be extended to the Reid-Fulbright-Hotz area, but that he must arrange a meeting with representatives of those dorms first to decide on the best possible places for stops.

"The reason why we have been unable to extend our routing there is because buses which come up Razorback Road are usually too full to pick up more passengers," Scott explained. Around the first of April the university plans to acquire two new buses and a spare.

Students wishing to get a copy of routes may pick one up at the information desk in the Union.

U S gives $1 million for Biomass

The United States Department of Energy and Agriculture will provide a grant of $1,000,000 to construct a laboratory and office building for the new Biomass Research Center on the Fayetteville campus, it was announced by Congressman Bill Alexander in Washington, D.C., and President Charles E. Bishop in Fayetteville.

The building will be used primarily to house more than $3,000,000 in equipment donated to the UA Foundation last summer by Gulf Oil Corporation, which also turned over to the Foundation its entire technology for the production of ethanol in creating alternative sources of chemicals and liquid fuels. The company also donated $500,000 toward the first year's operation of the continuing research being conducted on the biomass conversion process by Dr. George H.

Emert and a staff of eight other scientists, all of whom were transferred from Gulf to the University's new Center. The Center now is functioning on a limited basis with some of the equipment housed in Division of Agriculture facilities on the campus.

Bishop stressed the importance of the grant in helping the university realize the potential of the technology donated by Gulf. He pointed out that construction of the facility will fulfill a commitment he made to Gulf at the time of the donation that such a building would be provided.

Bishop expressed special appreciation to Alexander for the congressman's work as a member of the National Alcohol Fuels Commission in assisting the university in obtaining the grant for the Center. He added that the university also appreciated Alexander's continued support for the university's request for a $10,500,000 subsidy grant to operate a 50 ton-a-day demonstration conversion plant for a period of two years.

Last October, Alexander arranged a meeting between Bishop, Emert, Department of Energy Secretary Charles Duncan and Deputy Secretary John Sawhill to brief DOE officials on the conversion process and the state of development of the project at the university. The meeting also was attended by Frank Moore of the White House staff.

"The funding for the project came out of that meeting," Alexander said. Bids from architects are now being taken for the new building at the UA farm, which will have 16,000 square feet of floor space and will include laboratories, a classroom, and offices.

Transit adding buses, maybe runs

By LINDA PLEMONS
Staff Writer

Because the off-campus transit system is so successful, two new buses will be added in either May or June, says Frank Scott, transit system coordinator.

"We've got the go-ahead from (Fred) Vorsanger (vice-president for fiscal affairs) and now it is up for bids," said Scott.

The specifications for the buses have been decided upon and now must be turned in to the purchasing office, he continued.

Although the cost for new buses can run as high as $100,000, Scott says they are trying to keep the cost down to around $40,000.

The new 40-passenger buses will have two doors on the right side for entering and exiting and will be made according to specifications regarding such things as color,

Plaza, will be laid in front of Waterman Hall,"

A transit proves successful

only four days, the new bus transit system has proved successful.

According to Frank Scott, coordinator, 2,000 students rode the buses during the trial last Thursday and 2,740 on Monday and Tuesday.

Because of the popularity of the system, some students are passing by during peak hours by full buses.

Most students are satisfied with the bus system, relieving them from the stress of parking their cars or walking.

The transit is an integral part of university life, especially since it's free, Frank Christofferson, UA student, said.

Bill Speer says he is pleased with the transit and plans to ride it frequently.

It beats fighting traffic and sometimes futile search for parking space near the dorm, Scott said.

Buses are scheduled to arrive at least every 15 minutes, and traffic slows the buses, he added.

Suggested students use the transit lots on Razorback to help alleviate the traffic congestion caused, he said, by students still driving to campus. Initial success is very encouraging, but some insist on showing their cars off and driving," Scott continued.

And although there have been complaints, Scott said they "are trying to accommodate the majority, not the individual. We arranged the routes the best we could."

Three new stops have been added. They are at Center Street and West and Maple on the Brown route and Oak Plaza Shopping Center on the Blue route.

Some of the complaints made by students are that the buses need to be on a more exact schedule, they need to run past 5 p.m., some students are being passed by crowded buses and the bus does not stop near Reid Hall.

"We need more buses. I'd like to put three or four on the Blue route during peak periods," Scott said.

So far, he has determined that the peak period occurs between 8 a.m. and 9:30 a.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Although the off-campus transit system is new this year, it has proven itself to be well worth the time and money spent. One rider was overheard to say that "the University should have done this years ago."

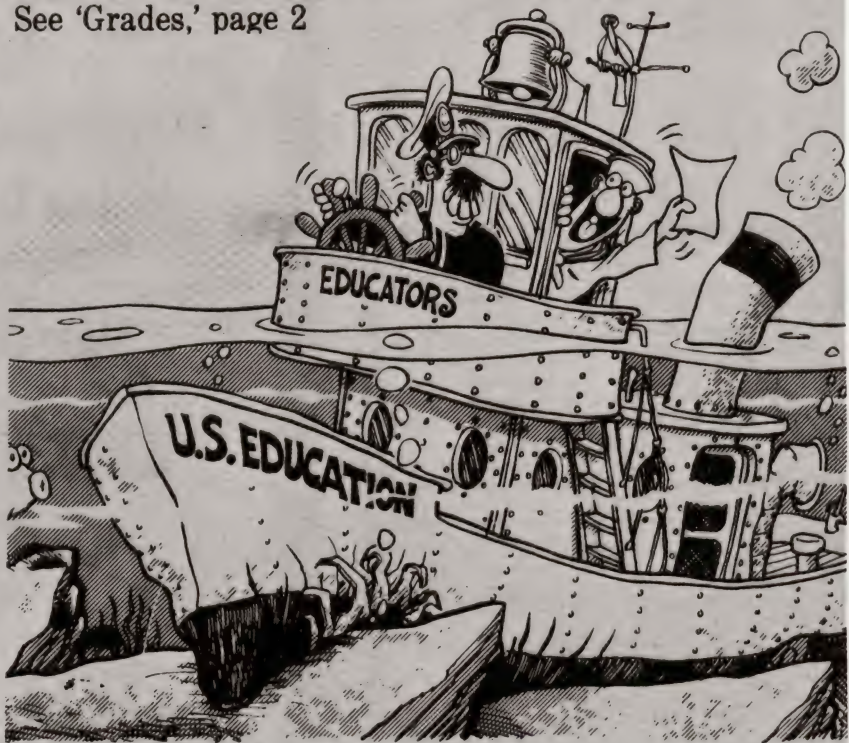

"I think it's going to work and I think it's going to grow," Scott concluded.

"It beats walking," Dan Beam, law student, said. Freshman Carol Echols said she rode it Tuesday only because it was raining. She got to class late because the bus was so full.

Seniors Virgie Gloria Johnson and a "nice improvement, convenient and it beats walking," Johnson said.

Mrs. Coretta Scott King, widow of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., will give the keynote address during "Black Awareness Week" here Feb. 17-23.

Her talk and the University's activities coincide with the national observance of Black History Month. She will speak Friday, Feb. 22, at 8 p.m. in the Union Ballroom. Tickets are $5 for students, university faculty and staff. Other tickets are $7.50 each. More information may be obtained by contacting Pat Mackey at 575-5255.

Rights movement alive, says King

By Leah Chester

Coretta Scott King, widow of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., spoke on the non-violent movement of social change in America to some 325 people Friday night in the Union.

King was here in conjunction with Black Awareness Week. Most of her speech was on the history of the human rights movement over the past 25 years and her late husband's involvement.

King said it was important to know about the history of the black and their struggles.

The greatest involvement of students in the non-violent movement took place in 1960, King said. She said she wished there was another non-violent movement that would make as great a contribution to this country as that had.

To the predominantly black crowd with a few whites intermingled, King challenged each individual to make an important contribution to the advancement of the human race and society.

King quoted Horace Mann, "Be ashamed to die until you've won some victory for humanity."

"To do that, you have to become involved in a struggle that is a continuing one," she said.

Speaking of the demonstrations in the 1960's, she said everyone realized that because there are no demonstrations now, it doesn't mean the movement has ended.

"We should all be concerned when human rights are denied any human being," she said. "That is the inter-relatedness of our lives."

After talking about the Civil Rights Act and Voting Rights Act, King said the next struggle was economic justice.

"If we have a right to survive, we have a right to have a job and to be free from poverty," she said. She stressed that people should use the leverage of the vote at the polls.

King closed with the poem, "Mother to Son," and a challenge for all to "keep going and to keep climbing."

The week's activities are co-sponsored by Students Taking a New Dimension (STAND) and the Minority Programs Committee of the Arkansas Union. King's appearance is also being sponsored by the Resident Hall Association and the Associated Student Government.

Other activities planned for the week include a talk by Dr. Robert Dickerson, Sr., a Pine Bluff minister. Music will be presented by the Christian Center's choral group, God's Creation, directed by Ronald Lee of Pine Bluff and the UA Inspirational Singers, directed by David Lawrence.

During the week, students attending the University from Africa will present a drama entitled "Africans in Motion." Charles Pace, an Austin, Tex., actor will portray the dramatic life of the young Frederick Douglass. The Spotlighters, a drama troupe from the University at Pine Bluff, will present a one-act play and John Barracuda, a performing artist from New York, will present a special tribute to the life of singer, actor and dancer Bert Williams.

Registered nurses will be present in the Union for sickle cell anemia testing on Tuesday of the week. Thursday there will be a sale of arts, crafts and books. There will be a skating party at the Skate Place Thursday night.

On Saturday (Feb. 23) at 7 p.m., the Miss Black University of Arkansas pageant will be held in the Ballroom. Karen Harris of Little Rock, who currently holds the title is chairwoman.

Circuit Judge Paul Jameson stressed that the jurors should "retain an open mind" and not be "subjected to media exposure."

us beautification takes off at UA

Some 100 persons, including administration officials, faculty and staff, and students met together in small groups to list campus eyesores and problems. Plans are, according to Keith Franklin co-ordinator of the project, to choose one of the top priority suggestions and work with university administrators to get necessary funding and solve the problem within the year.

The problem areas discussed were many and varied. Besides the three mentioned previously, the suggestions included more park areas, a study of pedestrian cir-and bus shelters for the growing number of people riding the transit buses on cold, windy and rainy days. More lighting, fewer cars and trucks driving and parking on university sidewalks and the debris left over from greek festivities were discussed.

Joe Talley, director of Physical Plant, said he thought the biggest problem was the lack of respect students, faculty and the administration have for campus grounds. He offered as evidence the amount of litter and clutter on campus and the unnecessary worn trails through grass areas.

campus beautification is a relatively new undertaking on this campus. Past beautification efforts include removal of temporary and old wooden buildings, straightening Maple Street and putting a park next to the greenhouse on Maple Street. The biggest problem the University faces and has faced in improving the campus is lack of money, Vorsanger said. No money is given by the state legislature, or anyone else, specifically for campus beautification and as a result, the little money available has to be taken from "other pockets."

Iranian students agree with ends, not means

Embassy hostages probably in no danger say UA st

By PENNY PIERCE
Staff Writer

Iranian students on the UA campus have shown a variety of reactions to the current control of the American embassy in Tehran by Iranian students there. Most indicate that they feel no harm will come to the hostages, but have no idea how long the siege might continue.

Early last week, a group of Iranian students gathered in the Union volunteered their ideas and opinions to the Traveler. Many voiced strong approval of the motive behind the takeover of the embassy while condemning the means used. They said that the main intent of the takeover was to draw attention to the intensity of the Iranian demand for "justice" for the deposed Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi, who is now being treated for cancer in a New York hospital.

AVENGE DEATH

The strength of these emotions, students explained, is based on the Muslim belief in the need to avenge the deaths of the "thousands" reported killed by the Shah during his reign. Only when he is returned to Iran, to be tried and punished for crimes committed, can these people, who say they have seen hundreds of their friends and countrymen shot down in the streets, be satisfied.

These unofficial spokesmen said they felt certain that the hostages were safe within the embassy. The takeover, they stated, is more of a form of "loud objection" than a terroristic action by the students and will probably be resolved quickly.

The rationale most often offered by these students for the justification of the takeover was that the U.S. had broken its promise to Iran by accepting the Shah after vowing not to. Acceptance of the Iranian "criminal" is in violation of international law under these circumstances and allows Iran an opportunity to retaliate in a similar manner. The Arkansas Iranians didn't attempt to offer this as a complete excuse for the takeover but explained it as one reasonable argument on the militants' side.

The students carefully emphasized the clear distinction in the Persian consideration of the American government and the American people. The two are separate entities within the minds of most Iranian people, they stated.

Other Iranian students made this same distinction, indicating a fear and distrust of the American government while maintaining a great appreciation and belief in the American people. Some claimed the American intelligence and compassion as the attracting force behind the Iranian protests. They are counting on these characteristics to insure American support.

Within the Iranian population itself, definite divisions are discernable. Some students vented loud pro-Khomeini support, calling for the Shah's return and multiple deaths. Others, suggesting the takeover may be by his government to detract from the complete failure of his government. They agree the Shah's regime was far too corrupt and attempt to "westernize" Iran. The religious leader Khomeini's more disastrous. Both sets of countrymen dying at the hands of their leaders.

BLAME U

Some of the Arkansas students suggested that the American government was involved in the takeover. They claim that the interests in Iran have been government obligated to

Dr. Kenneth Bailey, professor in the political science department, denied any possible involvement of the sort of the Iranians. He said the "right" gain" possible to any individual engaged in such involvement.

Dr. Peter Vanneman, department of political science, described the situation as a classic example of "outrageous" break with American diplomatic situation. This lack of communication, he indicated, is the reason for the slow, quiet diplomatic course.

Vanneman said the situation took over the embassy, Khomeini support. A "f

As the crisis in Iran goes into its second week, Americans had better think long and hard about "buckling their belts." This time, it's for real.

President Carter has ordered a halt to any further purchase of Iranian oil until the 62 Americans being held hostage at the American Embassy in Tehran are released.

Carter and his aides in Washington have taken a stand of quiet diplomacy, but not without action. Carter has ordered all Iranians whose visas are not in order to be deported. Aside from this action and the oil boycott, there is really not much our government can do to secure the hostages' release.

We are dealing with a total anarchy, a state of no government. The Ayatollah Khomeini has no control over the mobs of people he claims as his supporters. He is nothing but a figurehead for the swarming mass of half-crazed people who are virtually destroying their country. It's been said the Ayatollah has been backed into a corner by left-wing students with Communist backing. He made no public comment until two days after the Embassy takeover.

Do those terrorists realize what they're doing? It will take Iran years, even decades, to recover from the internal disorder its people have produced. Now the problem has become international.

Must the United States always play nursemaid to every country in the throes of its development? What do the Iranian people think we will do if they proceed to shoot an American a day if the Shah is not turned over to them? It would be nothing for us to drop 20,000 troops on Tehran without declaring war. That's a mere technicality that can be overlooked.

With the present trend of sentiment, there's hardly an American who wouldn't love to see Iran simply taken over. Why, we could keep the oil and drive our cars all we wanted. All over the United States, Americans are waving banners portraying John Wayne and shouting "Nuke Iran."

Mohammed Ali has publicly offered to exchange himself for the Americans being held hostage. He has said since he is a Muslim the Iranians will not harm him, and it appears Iranian spokesmen are considering the offer.

The Pope has dispatched an aide to Tehran to plead for the hostages' safety. Even the Dalai Lama, the exiled Buddhist god-king of Tibet, sent word from India pleading for their safety, "as one religious man to another of his kind."

Which brings up the question of spirituality. There is a world of difference between a religious leader and a spiritual leader. Do not mistake the Khomeini for a spiritual leader. Mohammed was a spiritual leader; Jesus was a spiritual leader. History has shown that spiritual leaders are more often the persecuted, not the persecutor.

It's official— Fork out $70 more for the spring seme

The UA Board of Trustees voted Friday to approve a $70 semester increase for state residents at all five UA campuses. This increase will be effective 1980 (next semester).

UA President Charles Bishop said the increase was necessary to recover $11,380,000 lost in a five percent budget cut.

University executive vice-president, Farris Womack said "a great deal went into the increase proposal and its effects on students."

Bishop said Basic Educational Opportunity Grants (BEOG) would pay half of the increase and the remaining $35 could be made up by the work-study program on campus. He said one hour a week at about $3 per hour would pay for the increase. Associated Student Government (ASG) President Rick Reeves said even if he received work study aid, this income would be computed into the student's eligibility.

"The last thing the Board wants to do is put a hardship on the students by the increase," said Louis Ramsay of Pine Bluff, chairman of the Board.

Bishop said the tuition increase would generate about $1.6 million. The Library needed $400,000 to maintain accreditation and the College of Business needed about $1.2 million to keep its accreditation.

Tuition will be increased to $300 a semester for state residents. Our rates will be raised to $615 per semester. Part-time student fees will be increased to $300 per semester.

After the increase proposal was passed, Ramsay said the campus leaders were doing their campuses well, but that a "great financial need arose and the

To the Editor,

I personally apologize for my positive vote for the present A.S.G. administration. If I had known their capacity of irresponsible action beforehand, they could not have prided my vote away from me.

From the beginning of this semester, there has been a series of actions in our "student government" that have filled the newspapers, but not the needs of the students. This new complaint is made after a month of playing over an impeachment trial that seemed to be the work of petty jealousy.

A.S.G. implemented a ticket policy that seemed to be about as fair as can be, in other words, first come, first served. However, numerous mistakes were made in the carrying out of the policy. The mistakes made were: (1) the leaking of the plan to distribute coupons on Saturday night; (2) the changing of the policy to allow the issue of tickets on Saturday morning; and (3) making people stand in line three times to receive their tickets. (One was the time for getting your name on the list for coupons, the second was for receiving the coupons, and the last was finally getting the long-awaited basketball tickets.)

Mistakes are forgivable and understandable to a degree, but these following incidents are unpardonable:

1. Letting the line control people get tickets before the students in line, and (2) ASG officers receiving tickets ahead of the students that stood in line.

The line control people knew as well as anyone else about the coupons being handed out in the manner that they were, yet they made no effort to secure the coupons. The line control people got their tickets before the other students. True enough, the tickets were not all high priority seats, but those tickets that were handed out prior to the distribution time deprived "regular" students that played the "waiting game" from receiving basketball tickets. The line control people could have

Season tickets sold out; many students irate

By PENNY PIERCE
Staff Writer

UA student tickets for the 1979-80 basketball season were completely sold out by 8:35 p.m. Sunday, six hours after they went on sale. Little Rock tickets are still available.

The 3,700 student tickets were sold by the Athletic Department and Associated Student Government (ASG) Sunday afternoon in Barnhill Arena, in the same student-designed policy as was used last year. The tickets were distributed with priority seats going first, on a "first-come, first-serve" basis.

Students began lining up for the sales as early as Friday afternoon. Coupons resembling movie theater tickets were passed out by ASG to reserve students' places in line, allowing the students to go and come back to Barnhill as their "turn" drew closer.

The sales went well according to Frank Broyles, UA athletic director. "I think it's going fine," he commented, as he aided in the distribution Sunday afternoon.

Monroe Harrison, head of the ticket distribution for the athletic department, quipped that the basketball fans seemed "a little more frantic" than the earlier-season football followers, but credited the intensity with the priority system used in sales.

However, UA students seemed to have a different opinion altogether. One student said the crowd was "on the verge of a riot" at one point just before the doors were opened. Several students yelled back and forth with the line control students, at times making threats and charging them with unfairness.

As ASG worker, Les Eviets, who worked a 24-hour stint with the sales, described one early source of friction. According to him, three hundred coupons were distributed to awaiting students Saturday morning and not Saturday night, as was originally planned. A "panicky" ASG member issued the tickets, without authorization, "as a favor" to the crowds already assembled early Saturday morning. Students arriving at midnight Saturday night found, to their apparent dismay, that they were already 300 "down the line."

A lack of pre-sale publicity, another problem cited, was a direct attempt in avoiding such problems as just described, according to Mark Schlesinger, chairman of the athletic committee within ASG.

Parade schedule

The 1979 Homecoming Parade will begin Friday at 3 p.m. at the Razorback Stadium parking lot.

All entrants are to meet in the parking lot between 2 and 2:20 p.m.

Attorney General Steve Clark, Lt. Governor Joe Purcell, and Representative Paul Hamerschmidt are some of the officials expected to participate in the parade.

The ROTC Color Guard, the Air Force and Army ROTC drill team, and the Kadettes are some of the other groups participating in the event.

Another group planning their Homecoming activities for this weekend, is the Union's Minority Programs.

According to Pat Mackey, committee advisor, a hayride and a dance are planned.

The hayride is to begin at about 6:15 Friday night and pick up riders along the route. It will pass by Pomfret Hall at 6:15, Reed and Fulbright Halls at 6:25 and the Union at 6:30.

Riders will be served hot chocolate and doughnuts for a small charge at the Greek Theatre before the pep rally begins. After the pep rally, students will ride around the campus for a while.

Later that night, a Little Rock group, Soul, Mind and Body will perform from 10 until 2 a.m. in the Union Ballroom. Admission is $1.50 per person.

Election effort fails

A new election for Associated Student Government (ASG) president won't be held. Mark Long, head of the ASG election committee said students cast 181 yes votes and 253 no votes in the November 1 election held to decide if a new presidential election was wanted by the students.

A majority of yes votes were needed, but only 41.7 percent voted yes, while 58.3 percent voted no. Long said that the 434 votes cast meant that less than three percent of the student body voted. Long added that a lot of law students voted.

A student petition with over 500

signatures of persons wanting a new presidential election was the reason for the special election last Thursday.

Rick Reeves, ASG president, said he didn't think the 434 vote was very reflective of the whole student body. "The good thing about it, (the election) was that it came before the basketball tickets were handed out," said Reeves. People will have to blame somebody for the way the ticket sales were handled. Reeves said a mistake was made in distributing the tickets. He added that "it doesn't do any good, but we're sorry."

In their sixth summer, the Summer Theatre Company presented Carnival as their stock production, and three repertory productions titled Barefoot in the Park, Stop the World, and As You Like It.

A summer production cast consists of dramatic Arts majors plus other students who wish to participate, and sometimes include community members. The theatre group finds sufficient talent in the Fayetteville area to hold a rating in the top five among Southern universities.

Carnival consisted of a cast of 42. It was directed by Pat Romanov. The choreography was done by Terri Brusstar and musical director was Roy Nastasi.

A cast of 29 made up the production of As You Like It. The director was Thomas Jones, designer Rolf Carlson, and costume designer Betty Blyholder.

A play does not necessarily need a large cast to be a great success. The cast of Stop the World numbered 11. Thomas Jones directed, costume designer was Ellen Stubbs, and designer was Larry Buttler.

Barefoot in the Park was directed by Kent Brown, scenic and lighting designer was Andrew Gibbs, and costume designer was Katherine Bonner.

A majority of the summer productions were produced by arrangement with the music and dialogue material furnished by Tams-Witmarl Music of New York.

An average university production takes from 1800 to 3000 man-hours exclusive of rehearsal time, which takes place every day for 5 weeks, from 3 to 4 hours of practice a day. With 3 to 5 productions per summer, rehearsal of one play may overlap with the performance of another play.

The Department of Speech and Dramatic Arts is the main producing arm of theatre for the U of A campus. With a balance of pure entertainment to classical productions, the Drama Department gives all a variety of performances.

A renovation is in progress to insure quality productions for following years. The department has accumulated a full stock of costumes and properties after 30 years of operation.

Board Of Trustees

ADMINISTRATION

President Charles E. Bishop

Upon his arrival in August 1974 when he assumed the presidency of the University of Arkansas system, Dr. Bishop spoke of a need to create a commitment to excellence. The creation of such spirit would be difficult in the state and the University. Before Bishop had left College Park, Maryland, a week, the UA faculty was already on the defensive. He had called them all incompetent or lazy. Many would be required to devote added time to research and writing. This meant added work to some and time away from students to others.

Many students and faculty did not see this "excellence" come about in the five and one-half years Bishop was here. Many saw it just emerging as Dr. Bishop left for Houston. All agreed that he was sincere and did accomplish many things at the University — several new buildings, others renovated, some ready to rise, library expansion, increased salaries.

Whatever people in this state thought of President Bishop, it will take years for his tenure to be fully felt. ■

A & S Is "Foundation College"

No university can be significantly better than its College of Arts and Sciences, according to Dean John Guilds, who assumed the deanship this spring when Dr. Robbin C. Anderson left the post to resume teaching. Guilds is in the process of re-evaluating each department in the college and plans to target selected departments for national recognition.

"Arts and Sciences has to take the leadership role in any university," said Guilds. "It is Arts and Sciences that is responsible for setting the intellectual tone of the University. We are the foundation college, not a core as so often referred to, and must be built upon."

The College for Arts and Sciences is the largest college on campus, with approximately half the total curriculum in credit hours, and teaches more than half of the total enrollment engendered.

A main objective of this college is to instill leadership. Other goals include stimulating students to meet the challenges and demands that the professional world offers them. Arts and Sciences insures the quality of a liberal education and is the barometer of academic achievement. ■

Diversity Highlights A & HE

The College of Agriculture and Home Economics offers basic courses in the physical, biological, and social sciences, mathematics, humanities, and communications, as well as in technical agriculture and home economics. The agricultural program offers courses in forestry, pre-veterinary medicine, agronomy, entomology, food sciences, and horticulture.

Home Economics students may choose their major from six different curricula, which offer many options. These include food and nutrition, clothing, textiles and merchandising, general home economics and education, interior design, and human development and family studies.

Both departments cooperate with other colleges to allow students to expand their interests and specialize. A business option is available, also a journalism option, and a degree program in environmental sciences that involves Arts and Sciences and the College of Engineering.

Research in Agri and Home Ec is a continuing factor in Dean Glen Hardy's college. The first strawberry harvester was invented here; the original model is located at the UA agricultural farm. A chicken harvester has recently been developed. This machine moves through a chicken house and nudges sleeping chickens onto a conveyor belt, which transports them to a cage. Other developments include research to decrease pollution in area lakes, development of an efficient sprinkler system to grow rice, and a child development project.

Growth Marks BA

The increase in enrollment the College of Business Administration has experienced in past years continues unabated. Since 1976, the undergraduate enrollment has risen 60 percent. Although the rate has diminished slightly, there is still a need for new faculty.

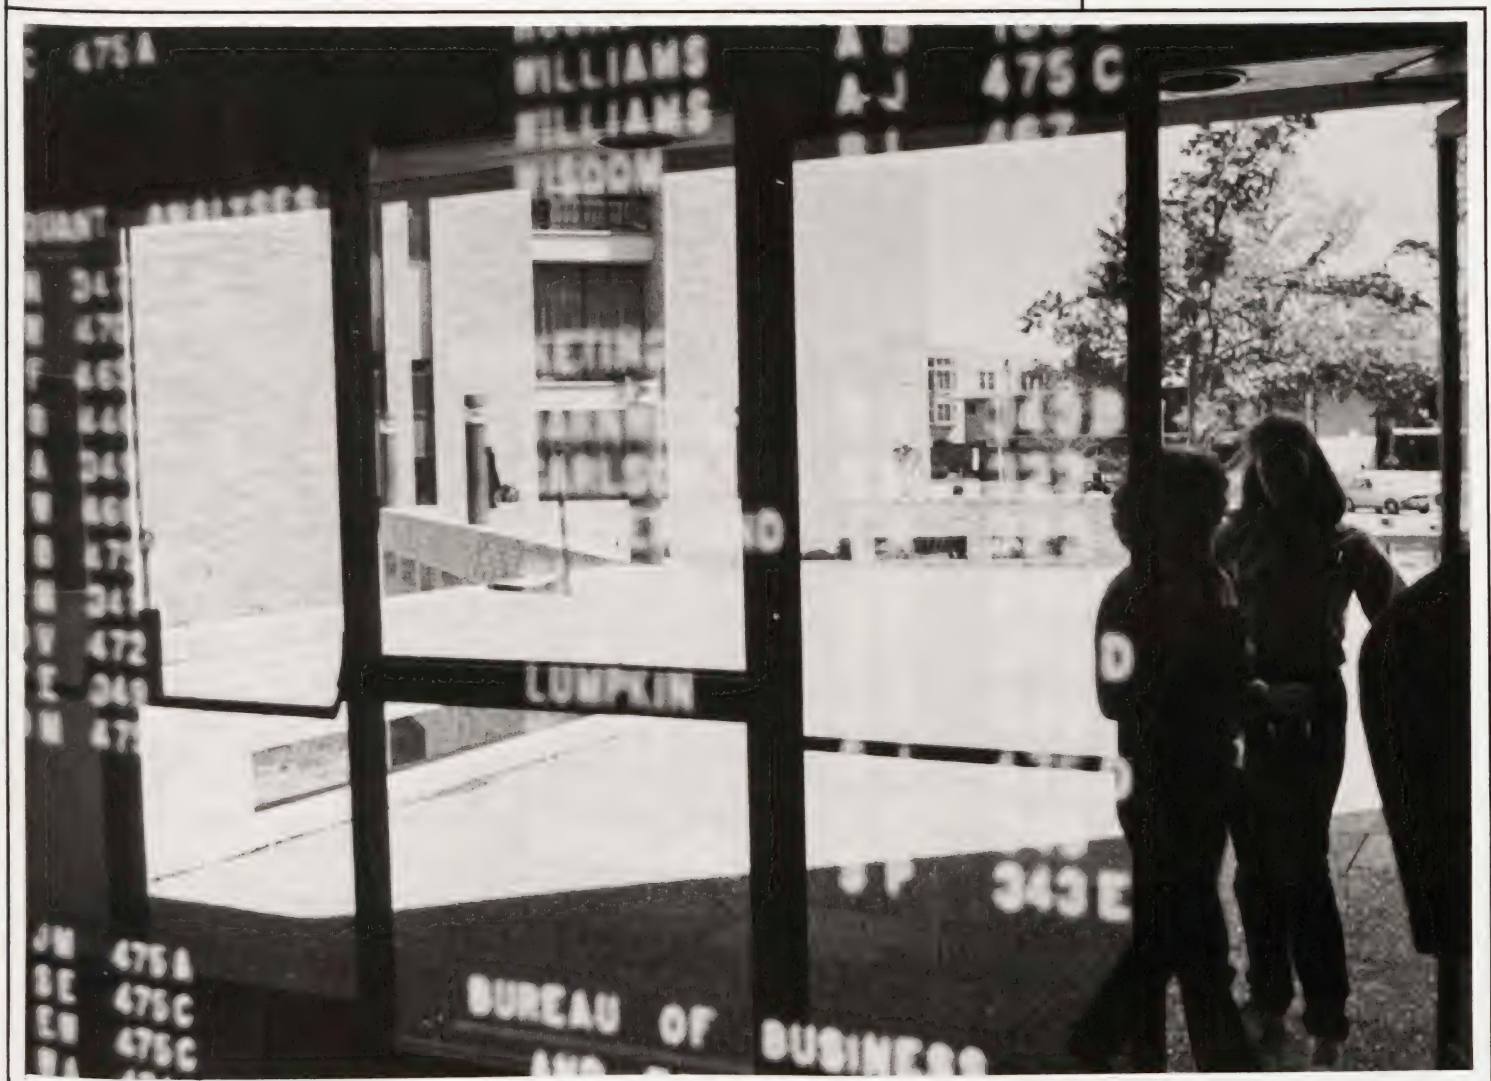

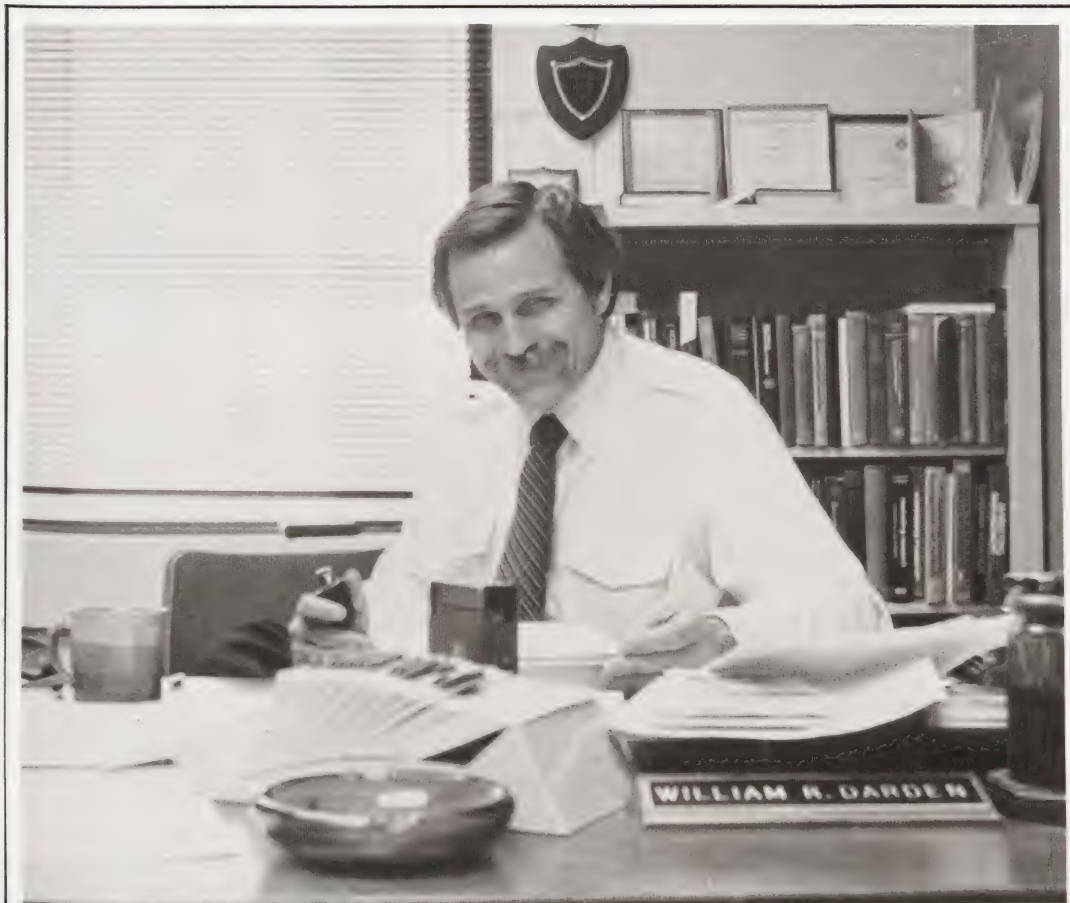

Dean John Owen welcomes the opportunity to meet the challenge that this increased enrollment presents. "This is our second year in this new building and we will continue to utilize 100 percent of the building's physical capacity as we meet this challenge," said Dean Owen.

Two goals for this college include internationalizing the curricula for those students who wish to enter the international business world. Dean Owen said he also wanted to strengthen several areas of curricula. To achieve this, he has added seven new faculty members in Data Processing and Qualitative Analysis and in Finance and Management.

The College of Business Administration has two outreach centers. The Biscoe Hindman Center for Economic Education performs an outreach function by offering continuing training to keep professionals abreast of the latest changes in successful management methods and techniques. The Industrial Research and Extension Center developed an economical model of Arkansas. Dr. William Darden conducted an Arkansas Household Research Panel that included 500 Arkansas families, and formulated economic trends from this survey.

Teaching Research Service

Goals of the College of Education parallel the three main thrusts of the University: teaching, research, and service. Within these three categories, a student may specialize in programs such as counseling, rehabilitation, music education, agricultural education, and dance education.

Curriculum is presented on the assumption that teacher and other school personnel first should have a broad general education; second, that they should be master of the body of subject matter related to their chosen field; and third, that they should balance their previous education by taking professional courses to gain knowledge of the learning process, skill in modern educational techniques, and internship experience in realistic setting under qualified supervisors.

The internship program in the College of Education is a vital part of the entire program. Area schools cooperate with the College to provide the proper student-teacher environment, and internships are offered in residence in Greece, Europe, the Near East, Asia, South Africa, Saudi Arabia, and Bolivia. Dean Vescolani had this story from a foreign city participating in the intern program: In Athens, Greece there is an air conditioned bus, which picks up students and professors. Naturally, it had hogs painted on it. One day, a driver behind the bus honked and honked his horn until the bus stopped. This 'Okie' got out of his car and said, "These damn Hogs are everywhere!"

Engine School Remains Research Oriented

The College of Engineering is preparing to have facilities, faculty, and programming to accommodate 2500 undergraduates and 500 graduates. At a growth rate of eight percent a year, this goal should be realized in six years. The present enrollment is at 1664 undergraduates and 150 graduates.

"If Arkansas is to participate in the Sunbelt movement," said Dean James Halligan, "we must anticipate growth and make our students more aware of what is to come."

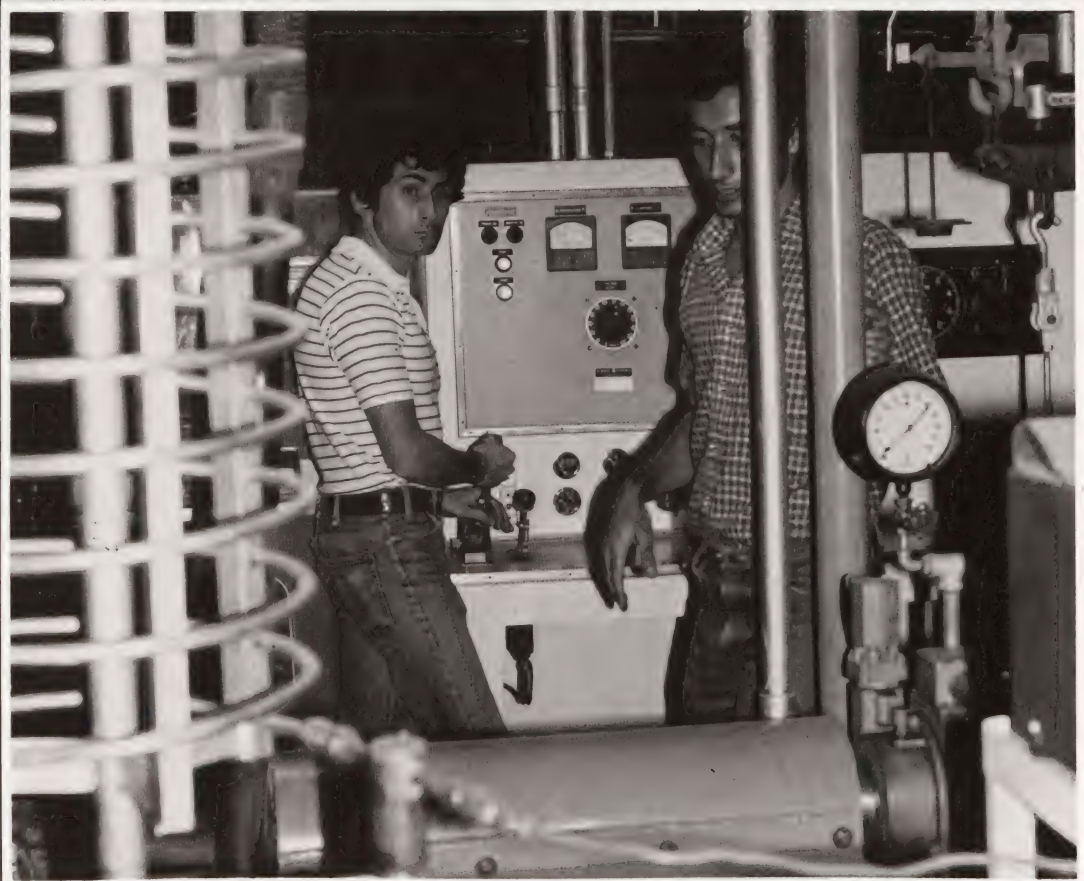

The Engineering Experimental Station provides access to new and novel technologies. Halligan said people frequently call the station with questions and the answers are always available. Priority is given to research that will be applicable to the needs of Arkansas.

Research is an ongoing thing at the College of Engineering. Dr. Hamdy Taha is studying the infestations of the pine beetle to determine the cost benefit analysis, and Dr. Donald Gilbrech is working on a solar recedrying project. Dr. Arvid Myklebust is developing a solar still that will allow small farm operators to produce gasohol themselves.

If need be, professors and students can even determine how well the Russians are doing their crops. Access to satellite photos is intended to track drainage and determine which trees are dead or alive in a given area. □

School Strives For Innovation

The UA School of Architecture offers a five year degree program under the standards set by the National Architecture Accrediting Board. Two programs of study are offered: Basic Architectural Design, and Landscape Architecture. A graduate program in Community Planning is also offered.

"We are old and secure enough in ourselves to try innovative things," said Dean C. Murray Smart. "We are turning out students with very good educations. It's time now to hold on to the good things we have and 'fine tune' the school. In doing so, we can look for activities, courses and faculty to add something extra."

A research grant was recently awarded the school to study the possibilities of showing building presentations by film or video tape. Dean Smart said, "Still pictures just don't show building space properly."

Faculty within the school of Architecture are expected to devote 20 percent of their time to personal creative processes. [i]

All Schools In One

The University of Arkansas Graduate School is not following the national trend of dropping or holding the number of students enrolled. The UA Graduate School continues to grow and Dean James J. Hudson doesn't expect this growth to level off for another two to three years.

"Regardless of enrollment," said Dean Hudson, "quality will continue to be stressed."

The Graduate School office moved to Ozark Hall this year, and graduate registration will continue to be handled directly in the Graduate School office. Graduate assistantships are also handled by Dean Hudson's office; they are included in his budget.

Dean Hudson can boast he has 700 faculty members within the Graduate School. The secret lies in the fact that he borrows all of them from other colleges. "The Graduate School is the academic conscience of the UA," said Dean Hudson. "Since I don't have any power I don't have to play the politics the other college dean do." □

The University of Arkansas School of Law recently acquired a computer system that assists with legal research. First year students in the three-year Juris Doctor degree program are learning to operate the system, which will aid them greatly throughout the rest of their schooling.

This years featured speaker for Law Week was Professor Dan Dobbs from the University of Arizona. Dobbs is a chaired professor at Tempe and an expert on torts in this country.

Newly elected Dean David Epstein has just finished two books; one on debtor-creditor law and the other on business bankruptcy.

Faculty members seldom need encouragement to write. Dick Richards wrote a book on employment discrimination, and Steve Nickles already published a book on consumer protection.

Other faculty have developed courses to teach basic lawyering skills that cannot be aquired in a regular classroom situation. Office skills are taught and the drama school participates in simulated courtroom scenes that are videotaped. This enables the student and instructor to evaluate how the law student handles himself in court and how he works with an actual client. □

Rebuilding Yields 10-2

A young and inexperienced Razorback squad took to the field at War Memorial Stadium before a capacity crowd of 55,318 that was waiting for a glimpse of what the 1979 football season would hold in store. Although Arkansas was only picked seventh in the conference race, the spectators were not to be disappointed as the Hogs outscored the Colorado State Rams 36-3.

As Coach Lou Holtz said, however, the score was not indicative of how close the game was as CSU rushed for 324 yards but were only able to score three points.

Quarterback Kevin Scanlin (#14) broke the ice for the Razorbacks by running-in the first touchdown of the season with 5:52 to go in the first quarter. The PAT kicked by Ish Ordonez (#3) hit the crossbar, his first miss at Arkansas, and the Hogs led 6-0.

Sophomore running back Gary Woods (#22) got a taste of scoring as he ran-in two touchdowns in the second quarter and Ordonez completed the extra-point kick to put the Razorbacks ahead at halftime 19-0.

A refreshed CSU team returned to the game after the half and soon put three points on the scoreboard to help close the gap. Although the field goal ended the Rams' scoring for the game, their defense managed to keep the Razorbacks from adding points to their side of the board during the third quarter.

The Rams could not keep the Hogs from scoring for long, and during the fourth quarter, Arkansas's offense exploded for two touchdowns, kicker Steve Cox (#10) added three more points with his 34-yard field goal, and Ish kicked two PAT's to bring the Razorbacks' scoring to an end.

The Razorbacks gained 460 total yards and 23 first downs to start the '79 season off on a winning note. One low-point in the game, however, came when Kirk Woolfolk (#16), the only senior in the defensive backfield suffered a severely sprained knee on the last play of the game. Woolfolk missed the rest of the season.

Led by Kevin Scanlon's two touchdown runs in first-quarter play, the Porkers coasted to 2-0 by defeating the Oklahoma State Cowboys 27-7.

Late in the first half sophomore running back Thomas Brown (#33) was taken out for the rest of the season after re-injuring the shoulder that he injured in the Colorado State game. Before leaving the OSU game, Brown had accumulated 88 yards in four plays.

At the half, the Hogs accumulated

336 total yards to the Cowboys' 123. Aided by a touchdown pass from freshman Tom Jones (#11) to Darryl Mason (#82) plus a field goal from Ish Ordonez in the second quarter, Arkansas retired to the locker room with a 24-0 lead.

The second half proved to be more of a battle of the defenses as the Cowboys held the Hog's offense to 100 yards and another Ordonez field goal. OSU finally managed to put seven points on the board in the fourth quarter, as the Pokes moved the ball 84 yards in 11 plays for their only touchdown.

"Our team faced a challenge and accepted it. We beat a fine Oklahoma State team. Make no mistakes about it, OSU is a fine defensive team and is extremely well coached."

The Arkansas fans had to sweat it out as the Razorbacks faced the Tulsa Hurricane in the first Fayetteville game of the season. Although the Hog's win came with ease the team and spectators were forced to brave the high temperatures to watch Arkansas finish the pre-conference action with a clean slate. This was the Hogs third straight win over Tulsa, their last lost to the Hurricane was four years ago when freshman Steve Cox kicked three field goals to defeat the Hogs 3-9.

After Tulsa won the toss and elected to receive, the Razorback defense stopped them in four plays and got control of the football. Taking advantage of this quick start, Arkansas moved the ball 50 yards in four plays including a pass from freshman Tom Jones (#11), making his first collegiate start due to Kevin Scanlon's bruised shoulder, to Bobby Duckworth (#27) for six points. Ish's kick was good and the Razorbacks went ahead 7-0.

After Steve Cox (#10) put the ball into the endzone against his former teammates, Tulsa's offense was stopped and the Razorback offense once again controlled the ball. This time senior running back Roland Sales (#21) bowled into the endzone on a seven yard run. Ordonez increased the lead 14-0.

By halftime, the Razorbacks dominating 24-0 edge assured the fans and coaches a look at more reserve players.

The second half wasn't lacking in excitement, as the Hogs added a safety and a Tom Jones touchdown to make the score 33-0.

Tulsa's offense came alive in the fourth quarter when Kenny Jackson (#7) passed to Paul Robertson (#27) for a touchdown, and after faking a kick the Hurricane was successful on the two point conversion making the final score 33-8.

The Hogs defense was to be commended as Mike Massey (#48), Alfred Mohammed (#71), and Billy Ray Smith (#87) made big defensive plays. Senior defensive end Jim Howard (#54), also made an important play when he intercepted a pass from Tulsa quarterback Bill Blankenship (#11) to give Arkansas key field position.

"I'm really pleased with the progress we've made. We're 3-0 and right on schedule to open conference play. e're still not consistent, though. We haven't played four good quarters yet," said Coach Lou Holtz.

Arkansas entered Southwest Conference action against a surprisingly strong Texas Christian football team. In the Razorbacks' first road game, as well as the 56th meeting between the two schools, Arkansas fought hard to bring home a 16-13 victory and to up their record to 21 straight wins over TCU.

The Razorbacks first got on the board at the start of the second quarter when Ish was successful on a 26-yard field goal.

TCU came back on their next possession and running back Jimmy Allen (6) dove into the endzone for the Horned Frogs' first SWC touchdown of the year. Greg Porter (23) came in to kick the extra point and TCU went ahead 7-3.

At the start of the second half, TCU's Greg Porter kicked a field goal to up their lead to 10-3. However, on the Hogs' next possession, they drove 53 yards in 10 plays to put Ordonez within field goal range. His field goal from the 24 proved to be successful and the Hogs moved closer to narrowing the Purple's lead.

The full moon seemed to be affecting one of the teams, with 8:00 to go the Purples still controlled the game. On second and ten Holtz called a little blitz of his own as Mark Dewey (88) and Teddy Morris (57) broke into the backfield causing Kevin Haney to dump his pass off to Arkansas' Mike Massey (48) who returned the ball 30 yards for an Arkansas touchdown. Ordonez kicked the extra point and the score was tied 13-13 with eight min-

As the clock ticked away, the Razorbacks regained possession of the ball, and with 10 seconds left, Ish was successful on a 44 yard field goal. The clock soon ran out as the Hogs squeaked by TCU 16-13 to put them 1-0 in SWC play.

Arkansas traveled to Lubbock to begin its Murderer's Row of Texas Tech, Texas, and Houston. After Arkansas' squeaker against cellar dweller TCU, Arkansas' inexperienced defense and sluggish offense stood primed for a baptism of fire against a highly touted Tech.

Although the Texas Tech Red Raiders managed to score first they were not able to score again.

Arkansas' defense jelled into a fighting unit as the Hogs' offense gained momentum and the Razorbacks walked away with a victory over Tech 20-6.

The Razorbacks kept excellent field possession most of the game and except for a fumbled punt, never let Tech start on their end of the field.

Freshman Gary Anderson (43) highlighted the Hogs scoring attack as he returned a punt 67 yards for a touchdown, after being hit early by three Tech players.

"I've been wondering when I'd break one. I've had several returns where one man tripped me up to stop a touchdown."

Kevin Scanlon (14) was 5 for 9 for 109 yards with no interceptions, and Roland Sales (21) led the Hogs in rushing with 107 yards.

Arkansas had not beaten Texas since 1971; Texas had refused to play in Little Rock since then. Texas was the heavy favorite, Arkansas was the heavy underdog. The Longhorns lost; the Razorbacks won.

On the first play of the game, Bobby Duckworth lined up at the tight end. Half of War Memorial Stadium knew the play was coming, and so did Texas, as Johnnie Johnson intercepted. Texas was unable to move the ball on its first two possessions, but kept the Hogs pinned in their territory. On their third possession, the Longhorns' "Jam" Jones went around the right end untouched for a Texas TD. In the second quarter, the momentum switched to Arkansas. Kevin Evans intercepted a Donnie Little pass to give the Hogs good field position. On first and ten at the Texas 28, Kevin Scanlon pitched the ball to Gary Anderson at the last possible moment. Anderson hit the seam with one defender to beat. It was no contest as Anderson gave the defensive back one juke and high-stepped it into the end zone. The first half ended 7-7.

The Hogs came out in second half and took it to the 'Horns. "Doughnut" Richardson stuck Little and Jeff Goff recovered the fumble. On third and six at the Texas 6, Scanlon hit Daryl Mason, who made a shoestring catch. The score was Arkansas 14, Texas 7. In the fourth quarter, the Razorbacks put on one of their most impressive drives of the season. On second and sixteen Scanlon threw a screen pass to Roland Sales. Sales brushed off the tackle of a Texas linebacker and picked up the first down. Four plays later, Ish Ordonez hit his 31-yard game winning field goal. Late in the game, Texas scored a fluke touchdown on a pass that was deflected by two Razorbacks and ended up in the hands of Longhorn tight end Lawrence Sampleton. Texas had a chance to tie the game, but John Goodson's 50-yard field goal attempt into the wind wasn't close. As time ran out, Monte Kiffin (then the Hog defensive coordinator) ran onto the field and tackled Mike Massey (ABC-TV player of the game) in a fit of joy. The fans who stayed long after the game was over hugged each other, and called the Hogs again and again.

Arkansas and Houston entered their SWC showdown undefeated. Arkansas, on national television for the second week in a row, was 6-0 for the first time since 1969. With help from the Houston captains, Arkansas got the wind and the ball to open the game.

On the first play, Gary Anderson bolted 48-yards, behind the block of George Stewart, before being tripped-up from behind. The Hog offense sputtered there and had to settle for an Ordanez field goal. Houston countered with a touchdown following an Anderson fumble. In the second quarter, the Razorbacks drove 80 yards for a touchdown to make the score 10-7 Arkansas. On the drive, Scanlon completed passes to Steve Clyde (80) three times and rushed the ball in from 11-yards out. At the beginning of the second half Scanlon and Anderson missed connections on a hand-off at the Houston 4-yard line and the Cougars recovered. With new life given to them, Houston scored two field goals to take a 13-10 lead. On the field goal drive that put them in the lead, Houston fumbled three times, but each time the officials ruled the carrier down. Arkansas did have its chances. Bobby Duckworth (27) dropped a bomb from Scanlon coming off a fake reverse, and Ordonez had his field attempt to tie the game blocked. Houston, known for good sportsmanship, ethical recruiting, and devoted fans, remained undefeated. Arkansas, 6-1, found themselves in the unusual position of rooting for Texas to defeat the Cougars to put the Hogs back in the conference race.

Beating Rice is about as exciting as watching a telethon. It was Rice's homecoming, and 17,000 people jammed into the Owls' 70,000 seat stadium (about a third were Razorback fans). The Hogs won 34-7. The score was surprisingly close at halftime, 14-7. But Arkansas quickly extended that lead in the second half on their way to piling up 541 yards total offense. The Razorbacks could have scored again late in the fourth quarter, but Coach Holtz, who does not adhere to the Oklahoma philosophy of running up the score, let the clock run out.

After being held scoreless in the first half by Baylor's strong defense the Razorbacks took advantage of several second half scoring drives and emerged victorious over the Bears 29-20 in an exciting Homecoming game for Arkansas fans. Baylor jumped out in front with a minute and fifty-four seconds left in the first quarter as Walter Abercrombie ran the ball into the endzone. Robert Bledsoe's kick was good and the Bears led 7-0.

Abercrombie added another touchdown to Baylor's side of the scoreboard in the second quarter and it began to look like a runaway ball game. The Razorback fans were not to be disappointed, however, despite an early third quarter field goal by Bledsoe that put the Bears ahead by 17 points. The Hogs soon narrowed the gap as quarterback Scanlon threw a 32-yard pass into the endzone to Bobby Duckworth (27) for the first Arkansas touchdown of the game. Scanlon's two point conversion pass failed. On the Hog's next possession, Ish kicked a 28-yard field goal, but Arkansas still trailed 20-9. Danny Phillips (76) played an outstanding defensive game and helped the Hogs add another touchdown to the score when he recovered a Baylor fumble in the endzone. Scanlon's pass to Robert Farrell (83) tied the game 17-17. With the exception of another Baylor field goal, the Hogs continued dominating the scoreboard. Ordonez added a 40-yard field goal, and Farrell caught a sixty yard pass from Scanlon to bring the score to 27-20. The Hogs final score came on a safety by Jeff Goff with 2:06 left in the game.

Texas A&M entered its game against Arkansas hoping to upset the Razorbacks' plans for a championship. However, the Hogs prevailed 22-10 despite the rehearsed rah-rah of the aggies at Kyle Field. The game started slowly with neither team being able to score. Finally, the Hogs were able to put a drive together and converted a 45-yard Ordonez field goal. Just before the end of the first half, Arkansas scored again on Daryl Bowles' incredible 22-yard touchdown run (avoiding five Aggies along the way). On the third play of the second half, Bowles reeled off a 57-yard run that proved meaningless when Ordonez hooked his field goal wide. On their possession, the Aggies were able to move the ball, but the Hog defense stiffened and A&M had to settle for a field goal. At this point the Razorback defense began to take command of the game. The Hogs pressured Aggie quarterback David Mosely into running in circles and throwing an interception. The Hogs scored two Ordonez field goals and a second Daryl Bowles touchdown run (the PAT was blocked when the Aggies jumped on the back of the designated snapper Steve Clyde who had replaced injured Mike Burchfield. The Razorback offense was led by Daryl Bowles' rushing, (169) yards on 16 carries) and Kevin Scanlon's pinpoint passing, (12-15, 127 yards, no interceptions). The Razorback defense was led by five freshmen, Kim Dameron, (89), Ron Matheney (23), Billy Ray Smith (87), Phillip Boren (75), and Steve Douglas (20), who started for injured upperclassmen. Interceptions were made by Teddy Morris (57), and Kevin Evans (15).

Arkansas added another victory to their S W C record as the Hogs walked over 31-7, before a crowd of 54,718 at War Memorial Stadium. Razorback freshmen Ricky Richardson hit Mustang quarterback Jim Bob Taylor who fumbled the ball. Jeff Goff (34) recovered the fumble to give Arkansas possession of the ball and to set up the Hog's first scoring drive. The Hog got the ballgame going right in the first three minutes of play, as Kevin Scanlon passed to Clyde for the first touchdown and Arkansas led 7-0.

Arkansas scored 17 unanswered points against the Mustangs in the first quarter and kept the momentum going through the first half. In addition to Clyde's touchdown, Ordonez kicked a 32-yard field goal and Gary Anderson caught another Scanlons passes for a second Razorback touchdown. On Arkansas's first possession of the second quarter the Razorbacks moved 67 yards in six plays and Scanlon connected once again with Clyde for another Arkansas touchdown was a result of a pass interception thrown by Tom Jones (11) which Mustang Wes Hopkins picked off. The Mustangs were then able to move 45 yards in five plays. Scanlon scored the Hog's last touchdown of the game with 37 seconds left in the first half to bring the final score to 31-7 Arkansas. The second half was a battle of defenses as neither team gave up any more points. The Razorbacks important victory over the Mustangs assured them a share of the Southwest Conference title and a bowl bid in either the Cotton or Sugar Bowl. 🏈

Bearish Bowl In New Orleans

Arkansas entered the 1980 Sugar Bowl heavy underdogs to No. 1 Alabama. But being the underdog was nothing new for the Razorbacks. However the game belonged to the Crimson Tide; and Lou Holtz summed it up when asked who he thought was No. 1, "The same team I voted for going into this bowl, the same team I voted for all year — Alabama. I said it before and I say it now, I don't think there is anybody in the country who can beat Alabama."

The game began well for the Hogs. A tough hit forced Alabama to fumble the opening kick-off, and the Razorbacks recovered at the Tide 25-yard line. However, Arkansas was unable to move the ball and had to settle for a field goal.

The Razorback defense held Alabama on its first genuine possession. Once again the Hogs got the ball in Alabama territory, but again they were unable to move.

Momentum now belonged to Alabama. The Tide moved the ball with ease and scored on a 22-yard Major Ogilvie run.

On Arkansas' next possession, Kevin Scanlon fumbled the snap, and Alabama recovered on the Razorback 22-yard line. 'Bama scored its second touchdown in the span of a minute and a half on four plays with Ogilvie going over from the 1-yard line. Alabama scored a field goal before the half ended and led 17-3.

The Hogs began the second half with an impressive drive that put fear back into the Tide. The Razorbacks scored on fourth and three, when Robert Farrell put a 'Bama defensive back in his butt with a quick move and Kevin Scanlon hit him with a pass. Surprisingly, Arkansas went for the two-point conversion, but was stopped.

Alabama responded with an incredible 98-yard drive (all on the ground), that ended the dream of another Razorback upset.

The final score was Alabama 24-Arkansas 9. Although the Tide dominated the scoreboard, the Hogs had not been shut down. 🏈

Triplet-Less Team Makes NCAA's

The Razorbacks began the year with a young relatively inexperienced team. With Alan Zahn (#20) the only returning senior, Coach Eddie Sutton had several players to choose his starting squad from. Certainly junior U.S. Reed (#24) and sophomore Scott Hastings (#44) had excellent chances of returning to their starting positions, but whether Hastings or Zahn would move to the center position or whether someone new would have that job remained a question.

Arkansas began the season with the tentative starting five of Zahn and Reed at forward, Hastings at center and juniors Mike Young (#34) and Keith Hilliard (#21) at guard. Although the Razorbacks schedule began with what were expected to be relatively easy wins of their first six games, they only won two of those games by more than ten points. This was due in part to their rotating line-up. In their second Centenary game, Greg Skulman (#34) started at forward with Reed replacing Hilliard at guard. The third game against Missouri-St. Louis saw yet another change with Carey Kelly (#45) starting at center, Scott Hastings moving to forward and Keith Hilliard returning to his guard position. Other players who saw a considerable amount of action were Tony Brown (#40), Brad Friess (#12), and Keith Peterson (#42). Perhaps one of the Hogs' biggest disappointments came from James Crockett (#50). Crockett, a junior was expected to be a top contender for the starting center position. Crockett ended his Razorback career with three minutes against Oklahoma City before transferring to the University of Arkansas at Monticello.

On December 20 Arkansas was defeated by Louisiana State University in what became the first of a three game losing streak. The first 20 seconds told the story of how the game would go. LSU scored first with Arkansas tying the score ten seconds later, so it went throughout the game. LUS's largest lead was eight points early in the second half. Arkansas soon cut it back down and with four and a half minutes left on the clock led by five points, but two fouls committed by Zahn in quick succession allowed the Tigers to tie the score. Another blocking foul called on Mike Young gave LSU a two-point lead with two minutes left. Scott Hastings was then fouled and again the score was tied at 55-55, but a personal foul committed by Keith Hilliard gave Louisiana State the one point they needed to win the game 55-56.

Arkansas couldn't seem to find the basket when they met Memphis State on the 28th. Although the Hogs shot 69 times they only connected on 32. MSU won the game at the free throw line, making 84% of their free throws compared to 37% by Arkansas. Although the score remained relatively close for the first ten minutes of the game, MSU showed from the outset that they were in control and by the end of the first half were leading 44-30. The final score of the game was 67-74 MSU.

Though the Razorbacks were leading Kansas State until the last four minutes of the first half, the Wildcats took a 6-point advantage into the lockers at the half. In the second half of the game Kansas widened their lead to defeat Arkansas 66-57.

With a three-game losing streak behind them, the Hogs soon made up for it by defeating their next three opponents soundly.

The Hogs began conference play by crushing SMU 84-69. After that they went on to defeat Northeast Louisiana 74-51, and Texas Christian 70-58.

In Arkansas' fourth game of the year, however, the game was considerably closer. The Razorbacks met the Longhorns in the Superdome for a match-up that the Hogs barely pulled out 55-50. The Razorbacks began by scoring the first two points of the game in less than a minute. They slowly built their lead and at the half led Texas 29-19. The second half saw the 'Horns offense begin to gel while their defense kept Arkansas from scoring many points. In the last seven minutes of the game, Texas cut the Hogs' lead to four but fouls by Brad Olson and John Danks allowed Arkansas to score three more before Texas scored its last two on free throws by Danks who was fouled by Scott Hastings with only five seconds before the buzzer.

Although Arkansas defeated the Baylor Bears 71-57 on January 15 the game was closer than the score indicated, Coach Sutton remarked after the game. Baylor let the Hogs know from the outset they were ready to play. Throughout the first half the biggest lead the Hogs could get was two points. Neither of the teams shot much in the first half, both attempted 21 shots apiece. After the half Baylor, soon managed to lead the Razorbacks by five points and maintained that lead for about 10 minutes. Arkansas finally regained the lead and then stretched it out to the fourteen-point lead they finished the game with.

At the outset of the Houston game, it looked as though Arkansas would be chalking another game up on the losing side. The Cougars gained a 10-point lead 10 minutes into the first half and maintained it to end the half 33-22 in their favor. The second half of the game told a different story as the Hog defense slowed Houston's scoring while the offense began whittling away at their lead. The Razorbacks finally took the lead with 3:40 left when Keith Hilliard sank two free throws to make the score 53-51. The Hogs managed to keep that lead to win the game 60-57.

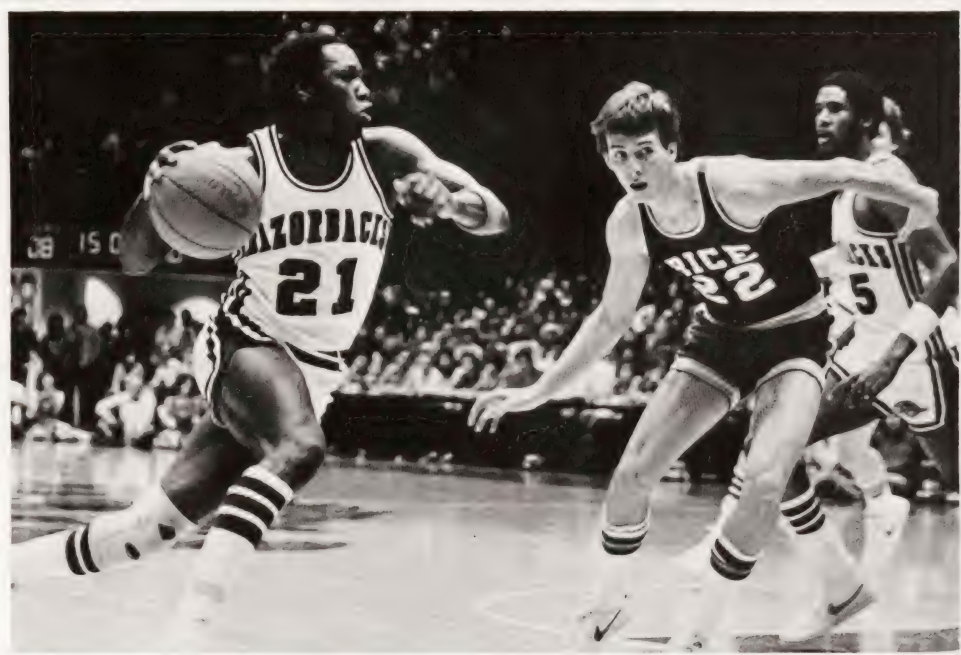

Although Arkansas only led once against Texas A&M and then only by two points, they never trailed by more than eight in a game that kept Arkansas fans on the edge of their seats. The game was close in all categories, the fact that A&M was slightly higher in all of them made them the winners by a 6-point margin. The final score was 45-39.

Throughout the first half of the Arkansas vs. Rice game, the Razorbacks had problems on both offense and defense. None of the Hogs seemed to be able to score while Rice made the most of Arkansas' defensive errors to keep the score close. At the half Arkansas led the Owls by only two points. After the half, however, the Hogs played a different game entirely. They quickly began widening their lead and led by ten points after the first ten minutes. They ended the game with a score of 73 to Rice's 64.

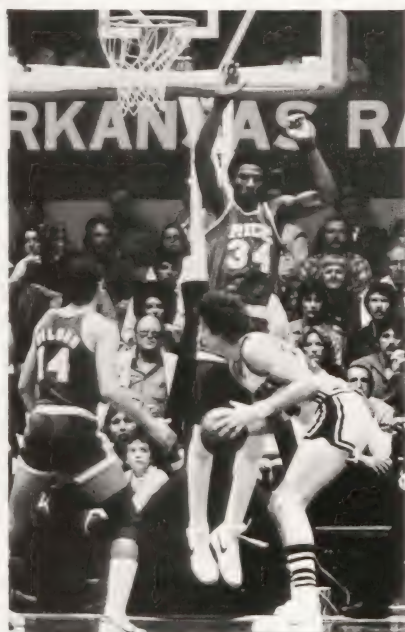

Arkansas ended its first half of Southwest Conference schedule by defeating Texas Tech 71-69 in Lubbock. Arkansas managed to keep a one- or two-point lead during most of the first half and at the half led Tech 33-31. During the second half the Raiders managed to turn the tables and the Razorbacks, as Coach Sutton said, "kept having to fight from behind." With 1:30 left in the game Tech held a two-point advantage over the Hogs but Brad Friess managed a lay-up to tie the game. The Raiders had their chance to win the game when U.S. Reed fouled David Little with 37 seconds left. Little missed the shot and Arkansas called time-out to set up their last shot. The Razorbacks last play was one which Sutton remarked, "was designed for Mike Young or U.S. Reed to get the ball and scored the winning goal on a 12-foot jumper with one second on the clock. After the Tech game Arkansas trailed Texas A&M by one game in league standings.

Arkansas met Texas at Barnhill Arena on February 2 to start the second half of the conference season. The Razorbacks led through the first 15 minutes of the half but the Longhorns came back in the last five to make a quick ten points that gave them an eight point lead at the buzzer. The 'Horns continued to lead in the second half until a 19-foot jumper by U.S. Reed with 14:01 left on the clock gave the Hogs a one point advantage. For the rest of the game the two teams played "toss" with the score. It looked as though Texas might get to keep the game when with nine seconds left, guard Fred Carson scored on a 12-foot jumper to give Texas a 59-58 edge. U.S. Reed brought the ball back down the floor, however, and made a 20-foot jumper with one second left to give Arkansas the game 60-59.

After their past two games being won in the last second both the team and fans were ready for the relief the TCU game gave. The Hogs jumped out to a quick lead in the opening minutes of the game and at the half led the Horned Frogs 35-21. Arkansas continued to add points to their side of the board throughout the second half to end the exhibition 74-47.

The Balor game started out looking like it would be another close one for the Razorbacks. Throughout the first half the Hogs had trouble not fouling the Bears and the Bears had a 70% free throw average for the half. Although Arkansas shot 57% from the field compared to Baylor's 29%, the Bear's free throw shooting made it a 26-26 half. When Arkansas came back out after the half, they managed to quit fouling and began to pull away from the Bears. By the time the clock had ticked off 10 minutes the Razorbacks were ahead by 16. By the end of the game they had scored 70 to Baylor's 51.

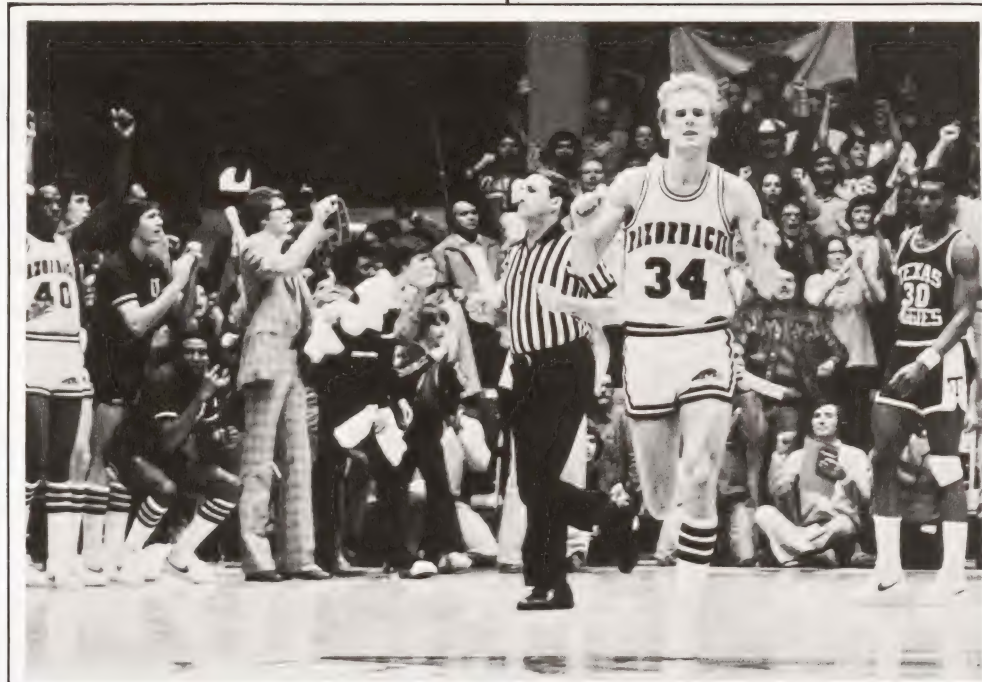

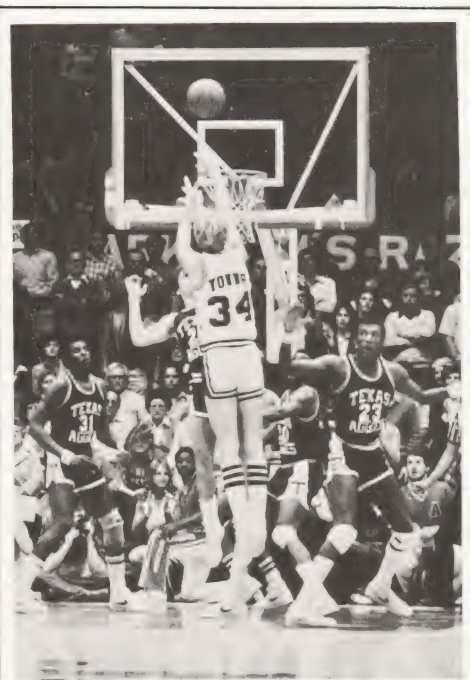

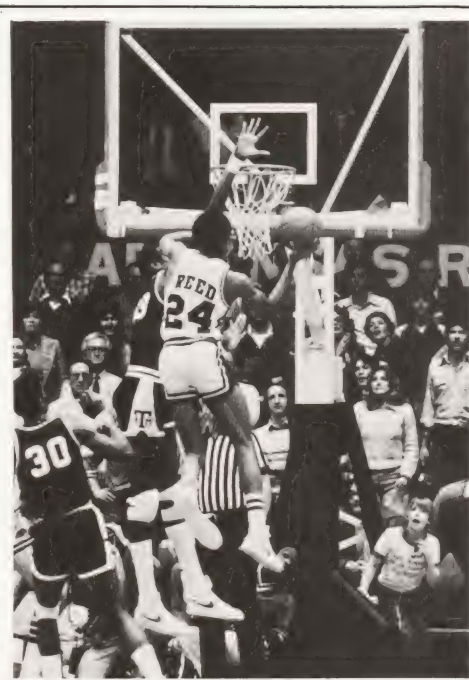

The Razorbacks met the Houston Cougars in Hofheinz Pavilion on February 9 in what proved to be their longest game of the season. Arkansas played catch-up throughout most of the game, never getting more than seven points down and seldom leading by more than two. The Cougars led 44-40 at the half and kept that slight lead throughout the second half. It looked like the Hogs would lose by two when as the buzzer sounded Keith Hilliard hit from 12 feet to tie the game at 76-76. Arkansas scored four points in the first minute of the first overtime on a bomb from the corner by Mike Young and a dunk by Alan Zahn. Rolo Williams then sank a 22-footer for the Cougars which was followed by a lay-in by Kenneth Williams. Once again the score was tied. The two teams went into the second overtime 80-80. U.S. Reed scored two free throws after he was fouled by Marshall Sauls with four minutes on the clock. Victor Ewing then came back to score from 15 feet for the Cougs. Arkansas called a time-out with 2:52 left in the second overtime and when play resumed held the ball for a last second shot. Scott Hastings tried to score from the lane but time had run out. Houston won the tip in the third overtime and Victor Ewing scored on a 5-foot banker. Kenneth Williams was fouled by Mike Young with 2:51 left to go and sank both to give Houston a four point advantage. Greg Skulman scored two free throws after he was fouled by Williams to give Arkansas their final points. Larry Rogers scored four more for the Cougars after he was fouled by Keith Hilliard at 13 seconds and again by Scott Hastings with one second to go to give Houston the game 90-84.

The Razorbacks met the Texas Aggies in their crucial game of the season on February 12 in Barnhill Arena. The Hogs needed to defeat A&M to give them a shot at the league championship. If the Hogs won they would be tied for the lead with A&M. Fate was with the Razorbacks one more time in this game that was labeled the "classic matchup." A&M led throughout the first half and the Hogs weren't able to tie up the score until U.S. Reed sank two free throws after he was fouled by David Butler at 2:39. Reed then made two on a steal to give Arkansas the advantage. A foul by Scott Hastings allowed the Aggies to tie the score. A charging foul on Reed followed by a 25-footer by Tyrone Ladson at the last second made the score at the half 26-24. The second half mirrored the first with Arkansas again playing catch-up. The last minute of the game told a different story this time, however, when a foul was called on Rudy Woods. U.S. Reed shot the two-shot foul and made the second one to tie the game at 44-44. With four seconds left A&M inbounded the ball to David Goff who attempted a desperation shot to win. Though the shot was off in time, it was short and Goff charged Reed in the process for A&M seventh foul in the half. Reed hit the front end of the one-and-one and in the pandemonium that followed was unable to shoot again. The final score was 45-44.

Arkansas met Rice in Houston on February 16. The Hogs led throughout most of the first half, but while it was a small lead for most of the half, by the time it was over they had a comfortable seven point lead. When Arkansas came out in the second half they were prepared to put the game away, but Rice had other ideas. With five minutes of the clock gone, the Razorbacks had a ten-point lead over the Owls, and they still had a 65-55 lead when 6:40 was left on the clock, that was when Rice made their bid for the game. By the time three more minutes had ticked off Rice had added six points to their side of the board, while the Hogs were still at 65. The Owls continued adding points and when three seconds were left they were only down by two. Rice called a time-out as Arkansas was about to inbound the ball. When play resumed Kenny Austin fouled Alan Zahn who made both ends of the 1&1 to give the Hogs the victory 77-73 over Rice.

The Razorbacks faced a crucial test when they played Southern Methodist University. The Hogs needed to defeat both SMU and Texas Tech, their next opponent, to be assured of a first-place tie in the conference. Although SMU was only 6-8 going into the game, they were out to knock Arkansas from 1st place and they did it. The Mustangs controlled the first half allowing the Razorbacks to lead only three times and then only shortly. At the half SMU led Arkansas 34-27. After the half the match-up between the Ponies and the Hogs began to look more like the Arkansas-TCU game with the Hogs in the opposite role. Arkansas trailed by as much as 11 points at one point in the game, but slowly they made a comeback. At 4:04 the Hogs had worked their way up to within three points of SMU. Scott Hastings sank a free throw at 3:14 to bring Arkansas two away from a tie. Billy Allen then added two more for SMU on a layup. The Razorbacks answered with a Brad Fries, 18-foot jumper. A series of missed foul shots with little action in between allowed the clock to tick down to ten seconds when Richard Harris sank two free throws after Scott Hastings was called for an intentional foul. U.S. Reed was then fouled by Dave Piehler at seven seconds and made both ends of the 1&1 to make the score 58-60. Gordon Welch made the last two points of the game after he was fouled by Greg Skulman to make the final score 58-62.

Arkansas romped over Texas Tech 84-60 in their final regular season game. According to Coach Eddie Sutton, "It was a team victory. It was the kind of win we needed going into the tournament at San Antonio." The Razorbacks began the game showing they wanted to win and by the half had already established a 20-point lead over the Raiders. During the second half the Hogs maintained their lead and finished the game with a 24-point lead. The Razorbacks ended the season with a 13-3 record in Southwest Conference play and 20-6 for the season. This was Sutton's fourth 20-victory season in a row.

The Razorbacks met the Texas Longhorns in the first round of the Southwest Conference Tournament on February 29 in Hemisfair Arena, San Antonio, Texas. Arkansas dominated most of the match-up, allowing Texas to lead only once - in the first half. The Longhorns were unable to match the Hogs and although they stayed close throughout the game could never get the edge they needed to beat the Razorbacks. Arkansas defeated them 64-62 and advanced to the finals against Texas A&M.

The Razorbacks played the game the same way they had played many others during the season — close. The Hogs matched almost every shot of the Aggies throughout the first half and when the buzzer blew were down only 20-19. After the half the Hogs seemed unable to score, while A&M slowly built their lead. The Aggies hit their peak at 5:16 when they led the Razorbacks 41-31. After that Arkansas made their comeback. In three minutes the Hogs were within five but that seemed to be as close as they could get. Finally, with 47 seconds left, Tony Brown hit to make the score 50-46 in favor of A&M.

The Aggies answered with a basket by David Britton. U.S. Reed then drove up the right side to score two more for the Hogs. Arkansas call their fifth time-out of the game. When play resumed Alan Zahn received his fifth personal foul and was replaced by Brad Friess, A&M's Rynn Wright was unable to sink the free throws but the Aggies rebounded and called a time-out. The Aggies tried to hold the ball and with nine seconds left on the clock Friess fouled Wright who again missed the free throw.

Arkansas rebounded the ball and with two seconds left U.S. Reed attempted an 18-foot jumper. The shot was short and A&M had won the tournament for the first time 52-50.

Although Arkansas had finished in both the season and the Conference tournament they were given an at-large seeding in the NCAA tournament and met Kansas State on March 6. The tournament was played in the Bob Devaney Sports Center in Lincoln, Nebraska. Kansas State showed from the first that they deserved their 1st place ranking. Within seven minutes of the opening tip they led the Razorbacks by ten. But the Razorbacks at the half had managed to get within six. During the second half, however, Arkansas couldn't seem to find the basket. Kansas State continued to add points and at the final buzzer led 71-53.

The Razorbacks finished the year with 22 and 8. 🏆

Runners Capture Conference

Coach John McDonnell began his sixth season at Arkansas with high hopes. With several top runners returning the Razorbacks were expected to have an excellent season and to finish high in the nationals.

The Razorbacks began their season in a dual meet against Oral Roberts University. The meet, held in Tulsa, was Arkansas' first and only defeat of the season.

After their initial setback against Oral Roberts, the Hogs came back in their next meet defeating Oklahoma, Oklahoma State, and Oral Roberts to claim a first-place finish at their first home meet.

Arkansas went on to win the Oklahoma State Jamboree at Stillwater and the Arkansas Invitational in North Little Rock. The Razorbacks further stretched their streak by winning the Southwest Conference and the NCAA District Meets for the sixth year in a row. Tony Conroy and Pat Vaughn finished fourth and eighth respectively in the Conference Meet.

Going into the National Meet the Razorbacks were rated fifth but were unable to live up to their expectations.

Mark Muggleton and Mark Anderson, who were both expected to do well in the NCAA Meet, didn't place.

Arkansas was only able to pull out a tenth-place finish with only David Taylor finishing a respectable 31st.

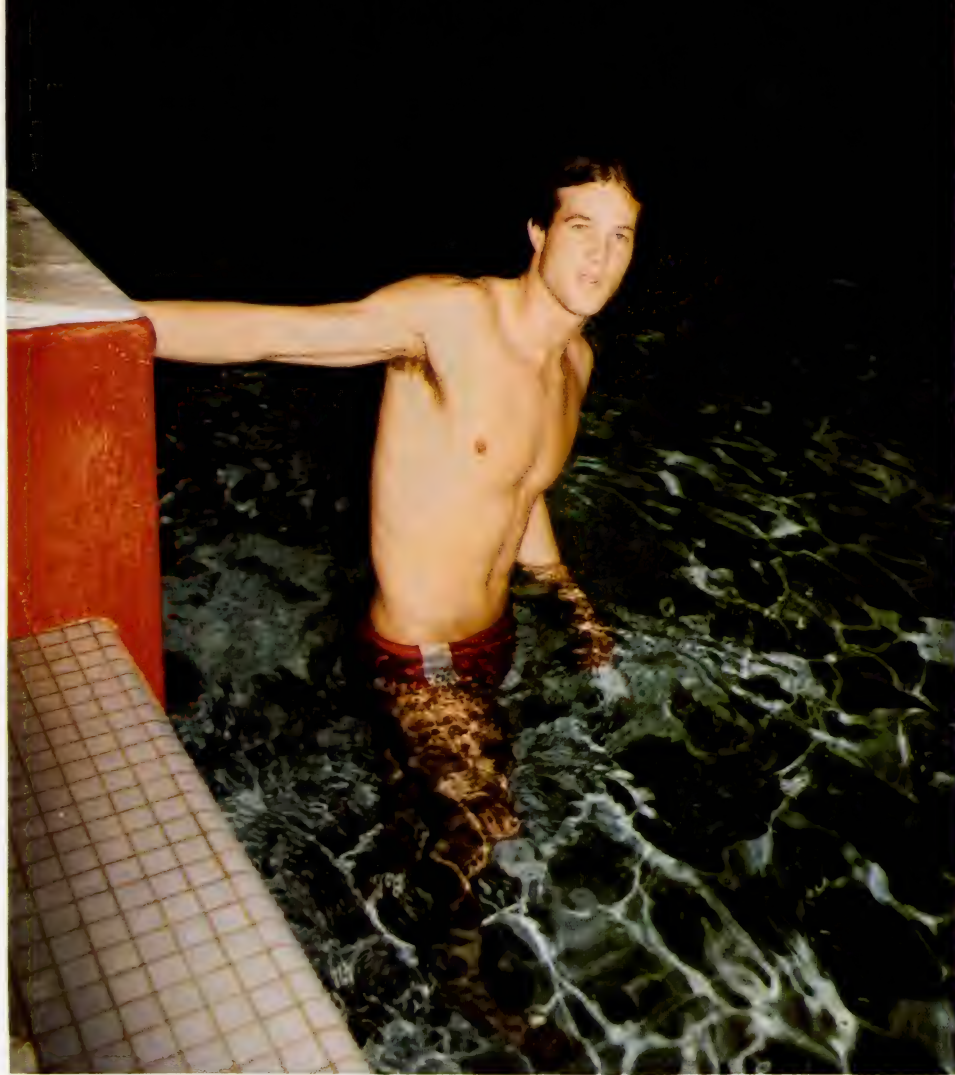

Although McDonnell was disappointed with the National Meet, he was pleased with the overall performance of his runners. In the seasons he has been at Arkansas, the Razorbacks have won 47 of 48 meets excluding the Nationals. ■

Injured Fish Give Healthy Showing

Numerous injuries kept the Swim Team from performing as well as perhaps was expected this year, said Assistant Coach Kent Kirsch.

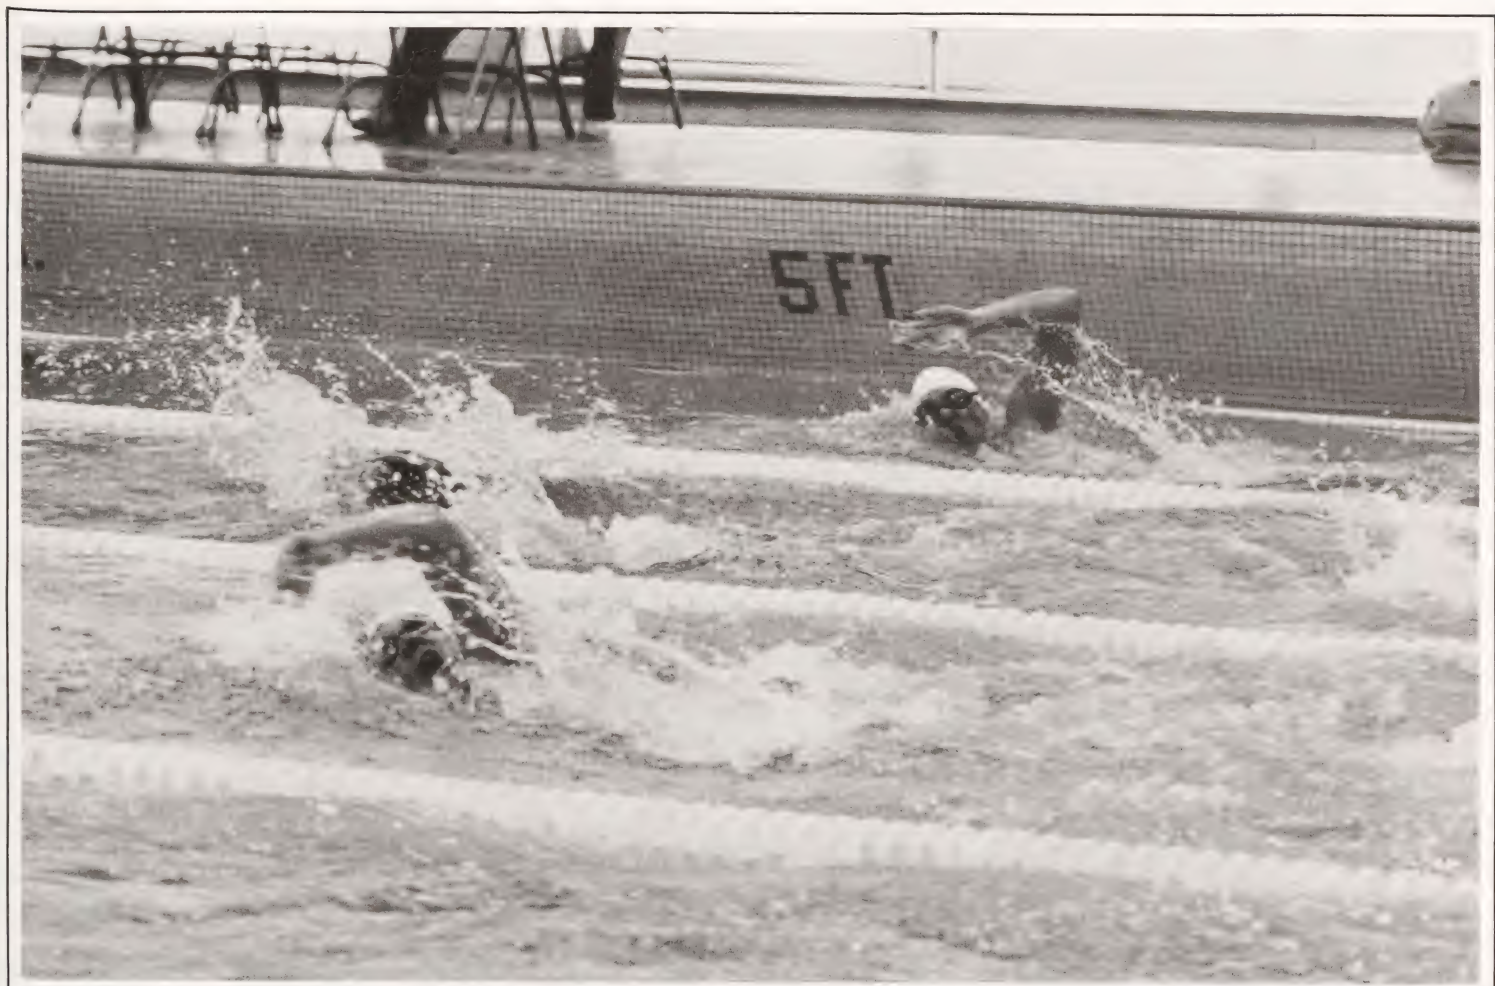

Two of the Aquahogs' top swimmers, Sophomore diver Mike Mann and Junior Jerry Spencer, were redshirted this year to enable them to recover from injuries. Although Spencer wasn't allowed to swim during the regular season he did swim one leg of the freestyle relay team at the AAU meet held at Harvard University. Along with freshman Randy Ensminger, Junior Jay Merritt, and freshman Robert Lager, the relay finished 16th. Lager also finished 8th in the 100 meter breaststroke.

The Fish finished the season with a 6-3 dual record. They won the Rolla Relays and the Stanford Invitational and finished third in the SWC meet behind nationally-ranked Texas and SMU.

Senior Craig Tapperson, Captain of the team, finished fifth in diving, in the Conference meet. □

Young Team Takes Crown

SWC Champs — Designed By Pucci

Five years ago, Arkansas tennis was nonexistent. In 1980, the Razorbacks under fifth-year head coach Tom Pucci won their first ever Southwest Conference championship and their second straight berth in the NCAA tournament. The Hogs accomplished this with an almost completely new team designed by Pucci. Only seniors Ron Hightower and Greg Fess returned from last year's collection, but they were joined by transfers Chip Hooper and Clark Diehl, and freshmen Pablo Arraya, Peter Doohan, and Jose Lambert.

Arkansas opened its season with wins over four top-twenty ranked teams before losing to No. 1 ranked Stanford 6-3. In the match, the Hogs' Chip Hooper was leading his opponent 7-6, 1-0 before having to default with a sprained ankle. Early the next morning, the Porkers fell to top-ten ranked Pepperdine, also by the score of 6-3.

Returning home to Northwest Arkansas, the Razorbacks swept through Wichita St., Brigham Young, SIU-Edwardsville, and Clemson to win the Wal-Mart Tennis Classic at the Ichiban Tennis Center in Rogers.

The Hogs then blitzed Louisiana Tech, NE Louisiana, and Oklahoma St. before going to Corpus Christi, Texas for the Corpus Christi Invitational. Arkansas beat Brigham Young, Mississippi St., and Clemson to reach the finals of the tournament against Houston. After losing five of the six singles, the Cougars packed their bags and went home.

The Razorbacks then opened a series of West Coast matches by beating Cal St.-Fullerton 9-0. Three top ten-ranked teams awaited the Hogs. UCLA proved too tough in Los Angeles as the Bruins topped the Porkers 6-3. The Hogs then avenged an early season loss by beating Pepperdine 5-4. The next day, the Razorbacks defeated Southern Cal 5-4. It was the first time USC had lost a home duel in four years.

Arkansas returned home to beat Tennessee and North Texas St. before opening conference play against Texas. In Austin, the Hogs whipped the Horns 7-2. Back home, the Aggies of Texas A&M were the next 7-2 victims. The Razorbacks drubbed Oklahoma St. for a second time before resuming conference play against Texas Tech. The Hogs gunned down the hapless Red Raiders 9-0. They then beat TCU 6-3 and Rice 8-1.

After losing a tough duel with No. 4 Trinity 6-3, the Razorbacks traveled to Houston for their SWC match with the Cougars. To generate fan support, the Houston athletic department provided free beer and over a thousand "people" showed up. After the singles, the score was 4-2 Houston. The crowd was drunk and nasty, but the Razorbacks refused to give up. Despite being spit on, cursed at, and doused with beer, they won the three doubles and the match 5-4.

A week later, the Hogs stopped in Denton, Texas long enough to whip North Texas St. 9-0 before heading to Dallas for their SWC match with SMU. Again the Hogs trailed 4-2 after the singles, and again they won the three doubles and the match 5-4. Arkansas closed out the SWC round robin by blasting perennial dreg Baylor 9-0 to go undefeated in conference match play.

At the conference tournament in Corpus Christi, the Razorbacks lengthened the commanding lead they had built up in the round robin. In singles, Arkansas' Chip Hooper, Ron Hightower, Pablo Arraya, and Jose Lambert won at No. 1, No. 2, No. 3, and No. 6 respectively, and in doubles, Peter Doohan and Hightower won at No. 1.

Before going to the NAAs, Hooper and Hightower were invited to play in the prestigious Michelob Light Collegiate Championships. Hightower, seeded 8th, advanced to the finals and beat Blaine Willenborg of UCLA 6-7, 7-6, 6-3. Hooper also represented Arkansas well before bowing out in the quarter finals. □

New Coach, New Team

We did pretty good this year considering we had mostly freshmen," said golf coach L. C. Sykes.

The golf team finished fifth in the Conference this year and placed third in the Pinehurst, North Carolina, intercollegiate tournament and sixth in Denton.

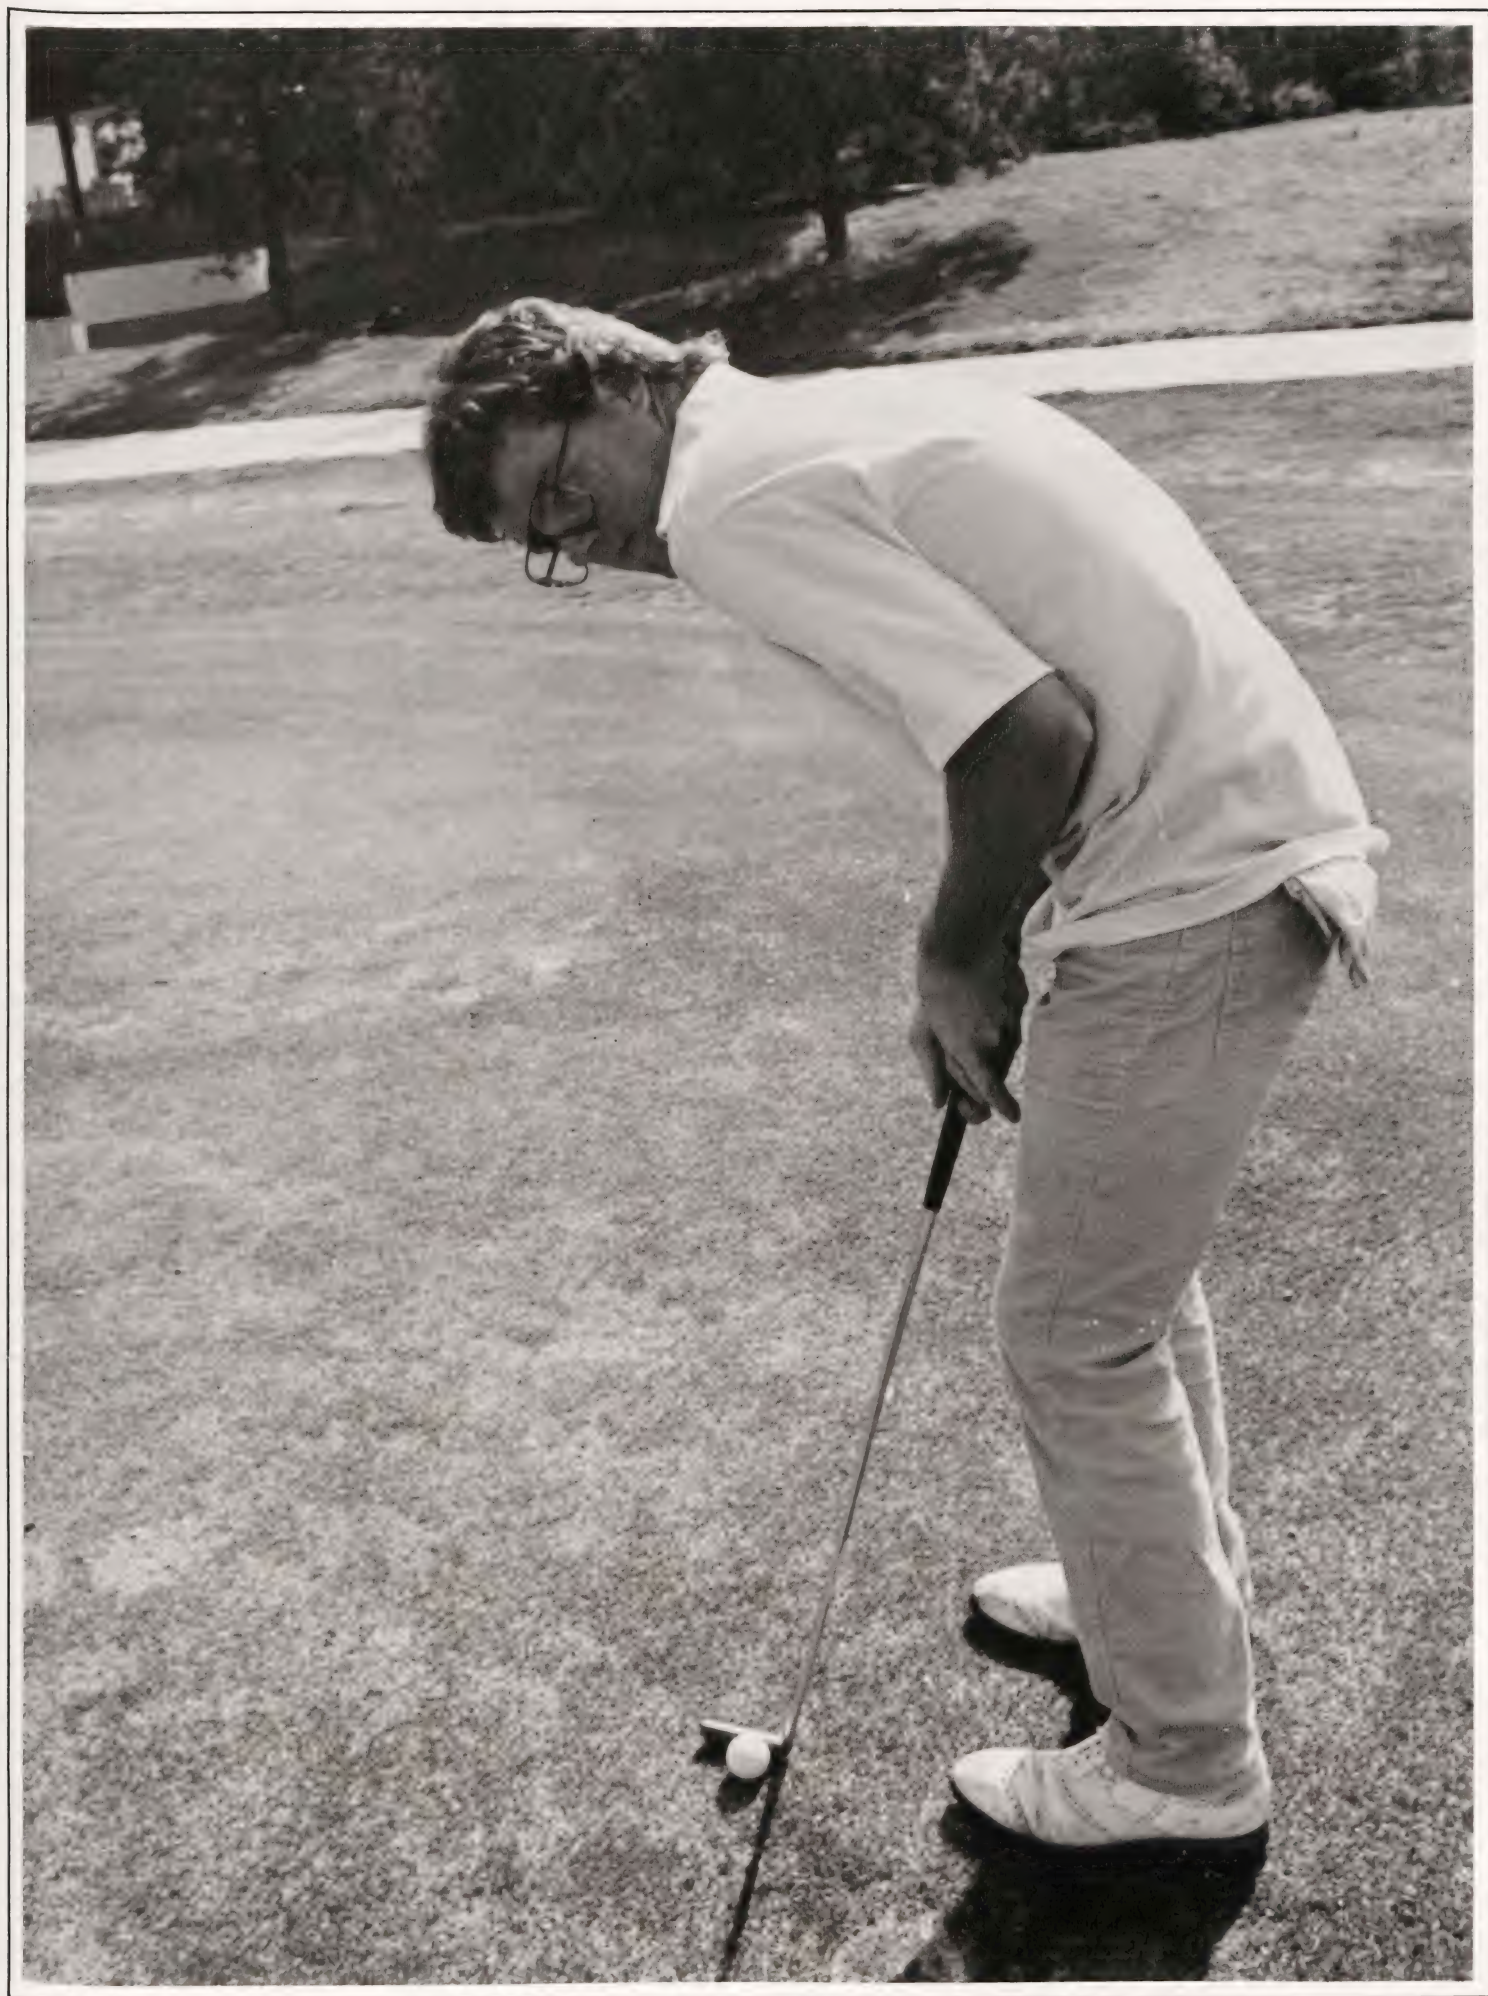

Sykes praised freshmen Bruce Jenkins and Bob Sauerberg for qualifying for every tournament this year. Jenkins also placed eighth individually in the Conference tournament.

Although the team only played in five tournaments this year, Sykes said they were planning to double that next year. He also reported his recruiting of several players for next year.

For most college baseball teams, Arkansas' record of 44-22 and a trip to the NCAA Midwest Regional at Tulsa would have been a fine season (and indeed it was). But the Hogs had one problem in 1980 — trying to live up to their 1979 season when they went to the College World Series.

The Razorbacks opened with a six-game series at Pan American. Hampered by inconsistent pitching (as they would be all season), Arkansas lost four of the six games. Back home in Fayetteville, the Hogs rebounded to blast Missouri Southern 15-0, 7-0 and Tulsa 10-0, 12-0.

Arkansas then moved on to Dallas to open conference play against SMU. The Hogs won the Friday game but dropped both ends of the Saturday doubleheader. The two losses to the lowly Mustangs would later cost the Hogs of any chance to win their first conference championship. Back at Cole Field, the Razorbacks evened their conference record at 3-3 by winning two of three from Texas Tech.

Arkansas then played consecutive doubleheaders against Southern Illinois, NW Missouri, Oral Roberts, SW Baptist, Baker, Kansas State, and Wisconsin winning 13 and losing only 3. The Hogs resumed conference play against Houston at Houston and won two of the three games. They then split their rain shortened two game series with Texas A&M in Fayetteville.

The Hogs took two from Centenary before beginning their crucial Southwest Conference series against Texas at Austin. In the Friday night game telecast live throughout the state, the Hogs' Scott Tabor outdueled the Horns' Keith Creel to hand him the first and only loss of his SWC career 2-1. In the Saturday doubleheader, the Razorbacks split with the Longhorns to win the series two games to three.

Lack of a third starter prevented the Hogs from sweeping their series against the Rice Owls. The Porkers then took a pair from Tulsa before moving on to Waco, Texas to face the Baylor Bears. In three one-run games, Arkansas lost the Friday game, but came back to sweep the Saturday doubleheader.

Before a crowd of 5,000 at Greenville, Mississippi, Arkansas lost an 11-inning game 7-6 to nationally ranked Mississippi St. Back in Fayetteville, the Razorbacks finally swept their first and final SWC series against TCU, but it didn't come easy. In the third game, the Hogs came from behind three times with third baseman Kenny Rogers pitching the final inning to win 18-17.

Before going to the SWC Tournament, Arkansas played four games against three nationally ranked teams. In Tulsa, Arkansas beat Oklahoma St. 7-6 and Oral Roberts 4-2. Emotionally drained and short on pitching, the Hogs were blasted by heavy hitting Wichita St. 6-2, 14-0 to close out the regular season.

In the SWC Tournament, Arkansas ace Steve Krueger surrendered 10 runs to Texas A&M but still managed to win as the Hogs pounded out 19 runs of their own. The Porkers then dropped a 6-4 decision to Texas. Facing elimination from the tournament, Arkansas beat Texas Tech and Texas to assure themselves of an NCAA bid before losing to Texas in the finals. Hogs John Hennel (1b), Randall Carter (2b), Kevin McReynolds (of), Reggie Thomas (dh), and Ronn Reynolds (c) were voted onto the All-Tournament team. In addition, McReynolds, who had earlier won the SWC batting triple crown, was voted the tournaments' MVP.

With little time to rest, the Hogs entered the regional tired and injured. In the first game of the double-elimination tournament, Arkansas pulled out a win over Oral Roberts. With the score tied 1-1 in the ninth, McReynolds and Hennel hit back to back solo homeruns. ORU tried to stage a comeback, but Krueger (with help from a spectacular fielding play by shortstop Rob Kauffman) held on to win 3-2. So many important games in so short a time finally caught up with the Razorbacks. In their final two games of the season, the Hogs were eliminated by Missouri 6-0 and California 7-1. McReynolds and Krueger were named to the regional tournament team.

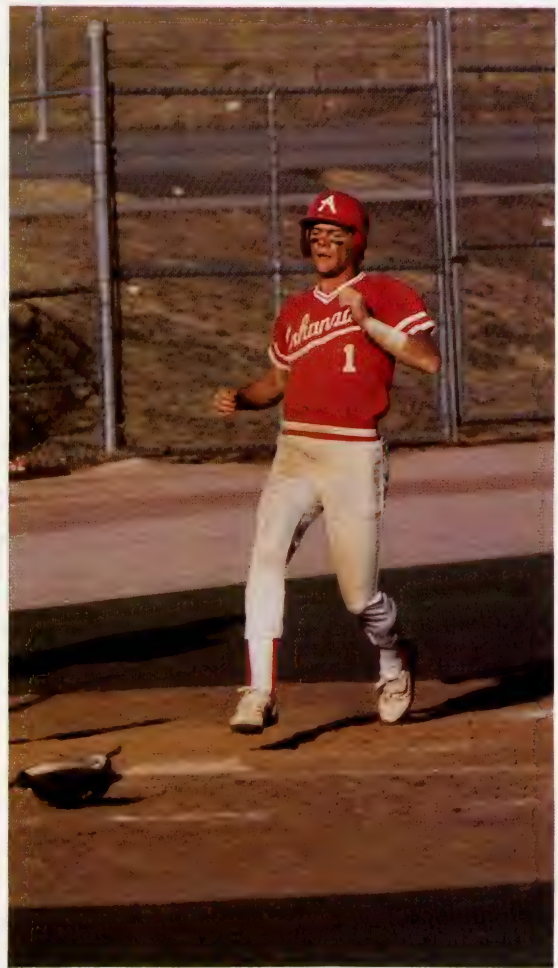

As a final tribute to his brilliant Razorback career, Steve Krueger, who never lost a SWC game, was named first team All-American. On the season, he was 13-0 with an ERA of 1.59. [E]

Contenders Again

When the indoor track season began, head coach John McDonnell felt his team stood a good chance of winning the SWC indoor championship for the second year in a row. The Hogs, who won the league title the year before by 21 points, returned four of their five individual SWC indoor champions and were among the favored teams to win the meet.

The Razorbacks made a strong bid for the title, with Randy Stephens and Mark Muggleton winning and setting SWC records in the 800 and 3 mile run, but building a huge lead in the field events. The Razorbacks had to settle for second.

The Hogs qualified five individuals and two relay teams for the NCAA indoor championships and coach John McDonnell was named District Six indoor coach of the year.

Any disappointments the Hogs felt from the indoor season were quickly forgotten when the Arkansas track team moved outdoors. The Hogs broke 11 school records and won a total of five titles at the Texas, Kansas, and Drake Relays. Sophomore Scott Lofquist led the way for the Razorbacks by breaking the school record in both the discus and shot. The Hogs 4 X 1600 meter relay team set a meet record in route to their third straight championship at the Drake Relays. The momentum the Hogs gained at the relays helped them to become contenders for the SWC outdoor championship. ■

The Lady Razorbacks began the season with the Arkansas Invitational. They finished third with Jody Rittenhouse setting a new course record of 17:51.

Arkansas finished fourth in the OSU Jamboree with Susan Ward and Karen Chance finishing 10th and 11th. Jody missed the Jamboree in order to recover from the Razorback Run.

Rittenhouse came in first in the North Texas State Invitational to help the Lady Hogs in a fifth-place finish. Mandy Renner, who had suffered a heat stroke at the first meet had her best showing of the season at Denton.

Although Jody only finished sixth in the Southwest Missouri Invitational, Mandy Renner finished 11th, Karen Chance 19th, Karen Robinson 22nd and Linda Post 30th.

At the Southwest AIAW Regionals in Denton, UA finished fourth with Rittenhouse being the only member to qualify for the nationals. 🏠

Three Qualify

Although none of the Lady Swimmers qualified for the AIAW National Swim Meet, Coach Patty Praxel said that overall she was pleased with the team's performance this year.

"Our dual record (3-7) definitely indicates the caliber of competition we swam against," she says. "Kansas Missouri and Oklahoma are very good teams and have individuals in the national rankings. We did as well as expected since our program is just beginning to grow."

Three divers from this year's team did qualify for Nationals, however, Karen Gorham qualified on both the one and three meter boards and fourth and second respectively. Diane Doucet, who qualified on the one meter finished 24, and Kristel Kochner finished 20 on the three meter board. □

Lita Leads Cagers

With basically the same lineup as last year's 7-13 squad, second-year coach Joan Henn turned Arkansas' women's basketball program around in just one year as the Lady Razorbacks recorded their winningest season in their four-year history.

Arkansas, 15-10, dropped its final game of the season, 74-46, to Texas Tech in the first round of the Southwest Regional Women's Basketball Championship at Louisiana State. Arkansas has never competed in the regional tournament before despite receiving an automatic berth since it is the only Division I school in Arkansas.

During the 1979-80 season, the LadyHogs practically re-wrote the young Razorback record book as forward Lita Stricklin became the all-time scoring and rebounding leader for Arkansas.

For a single game, Stricklin owns records in scoring with 31 points; and steals with 10, along with her 19 rebounds she grabbed one game as a freshman.

The Gurdon sophomore also owns season records in points: 442; most fields goals made, 179; most free throws attempted, 135; and most free throws made, 84. □

Six Qualify For AIAW

The Lady Razorback track team's 1980 season was highlighted by qualifying six athletes for the AIAW National Track and Field Meet at Eugene, Oregon. Diann Ousley, a sophomore from Blytheville, competed in the 400-meters. Jody Rittenhouse, who qualified for the 1500-meters, had to withdraw because of injuries she received in a car accident. Wanda Harris, a freshman from Arkadelphia, qualified in the 100-meters. The Hogs' team of L'Anna Howard, Linda Bedford, Lisa Sparks, and Ousley qualified in the mile relay. It was the second consecutive appearance for the women at the nationals. 🏃

Engineering Council

Engine Council consists of technical societies, honorary associations, and professional organizations in the College of Engineering. The council's main responsibility is to coordinate the various activities of the member organizations. This year, Engine Council sponsored an open house during homecoming and Engine Week in the spring. The council also selected a new St. Patricia and co-sponsored the State Science Fair.

In addition to these social and service functions, the council is also active in the development of programs to improve the academic quality of the College of Engineering.

As the first secret society for college women, Alpha Delta Pi has undergone numerous transgressions and changes throughout its 129-year history. Founded at Wesleyan Female College in Macon, Georgia, Alpha Delta Pi was originally a secret society called the Adelphian Society.

However, despite the many changes and progressions, Alpha Delta Pi's qualifications for membership — scholarship, high principles of behavior, and true friendships — have maintained the same high level of excellence throughout its history.

Today the Delta Delta Chapter of Alpha Delta Pi remains true to its high ideals. On March 9, the house earned many distinguished awards at the annual Order of Omega Banquet held to commemorate outstanding Greeks and Greek houses. The awards presented to ADPi were: Philanthropic Award for outstanding contributions to service projects; Model Pledge for the outstanding campus pledge for enthusiasm and involvement in her house; Scholarship Award for highest overall grade point on campus; and a member voted to the honor of Order of Omega. These awards are awarded on a basis of year-round activities and are a great source of inspiration and pride to the girls who worked diligently throughout the year.

Delta Delta Chapter of Alpha Delta Pi has worked and will continue to work to remain "the first and finest."

The national fraternity of Alpha Gamma Rho became a reality on April 4, 1908 when Alpha Gamma Rho at Ohio State and Delta Rho Sigma at Illinois combined. The Alpha Iota chapter here at Arkansas, received its charter on April 28, 1934.

Obtaining its main organizational strength from the fact that each member is studying in an agricultural field, Alpha Gamma Rho has the ability to offer a common background to all its brothers and thereby strengthen itself.

A.G.R. had several members in Alpha Zeta, with Steve Metheny, serving as chancellor of the group, being chosen as outstanding senior.

Doug Brooks served as treasurer of the Agriculture and Home Economics Students Association. Keith Mercer held the office of president in the Ag-Econ Club and Tommy Waters served as vice president of the Animal Industry Club.

Barney Morris served on the Board of Governors of the Arkansas Booster Club, while Metheny became a member of the Order of Omega.

The members also worked together on a fund raising project for diabetes. Through the "Bike-a-Pig" project, AGR raised $3,200 for the Diabetes Association and placed third in fraternity donations.

The fall semester brought a change to the house of Alpha Kappa Lambda in the hiring of a new house mother-Mrs. Gloria Ryan of St. Louis.

Initiation for seven new members also took place in the Fall, with pledge pins going out to eight AKL hopefuls.

In intramural competition, the bowling team captured second place, while the volleyball squad made it to the post-season tournament.

On December 12, AKL celebrated its fifteenth year on the Fayetteville campus.

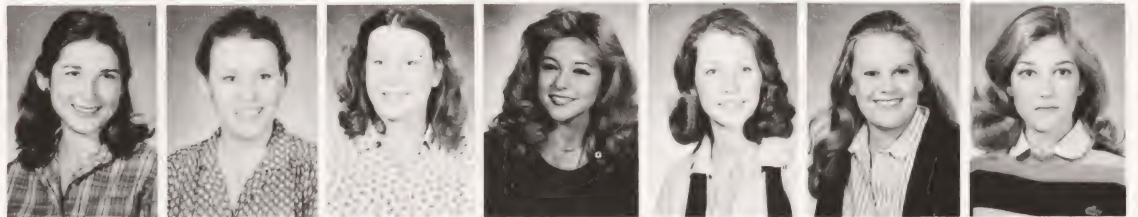

The Yellow Rose formal took place February 23 at the Crescent Hotel in Eureka Springs. Go to Hell with AKL took place April 25 and 26, with music being supplied by Magnum on Saturday night.

The international fraternity of Phi Gamma Delta began at Jefferson College in Cannonsburg, Pennsylvania on May 1, 1848. Over the past 132 years, Phi Gamma Delta has spread to over 118 campuses across the nation.

The Phi Alpha chapter has been in existence for thirteen years at the University of Arkansas. Throughout its history, FIJI's have held positions in Cardinal XXX, Cardinal Key, Blue Key, Order of Omega, Mortar Board, Omicron Delta Kappa, and A.S.G.

Steve Von Steen added still another honor to the house by being elected president of A.S.G.

Co-sponsoring the Fayetteville Haunted House, they raised over $12,000. The second annual "Run for Cancer," held before the Texas football game, found the men running Lou Holtz's glasses to Little Rock from Fayetteville. Proceeds donated totaled over $5,000.

In the Spring the chapter held its annual FIJI Island Party.

The chapter won the I.F.C. Intramural Championship as well as being selected Intramural Team of the Decade.

The alpha Beta Chapter of Phi Mu was chartered on January 19, 1979. Even though this chapter is just a little over a year old, the members have started many traditions and are very active on campus.

In the area of social service, the Phi Mu's sponsored a Scrub-a-dub-a-thon for Diabetes. Five girls sat in bath tubs at the Holiday Inn for 24 hours. Other fund-raising projects included co-sponsoring a pizza-eating marathon with the SAE's, and selling Pumpkin Pops for Project Hope, their national philanthropy. The chapter also sponsors a child overseas through the Children's Christian Fund.

Members are active in many organizations including Mortar Board and Order of Omega (Kathy Martin) and Angel Flight (Elicia Sinor, Pam Shapard). They are also in Cardinal Key, Union Programs, and Little Sister organizations. Lee Ann Poirer and Helen Spears are members of the Pom Pon squad. In sports, Phi Mu took first place in intramural bowling, and they have members on the Arkansas track and swim teams.

Phi Mu is very proud of its celebrity, Malu Hammans. As "Women's World Duck Calling Champion", she appeared on the Mike Douglas Show.

Other honors include 1980 RAZORBACK Beauty Helen Spears, and finalist Vicki Mayse. Piper Wilson was selected Lambda Chi Alpha Sweetheart, and Kathy Martin is the Phi Gamma Delta Sweetheart.

1979-80 marked seventy-five years on the University of Arkansas campus for the Gamma Upsilon chapter of Sigma Nu. Over five hundred collegiates, alumni, and their families celebrated the chapter's birthday during the Tulsa game weekend.

For the second consecutive year, Sigma Nu held the highest grade point of any fraternity. The "snakes" also won the annual diabetes drive, by donating over $6,000 of the $30,000 raised campus wide. The Diabetes Association also named Sigma Nu the recipient of the Antaeus Service Award.

The Sigma Nu football team won the overall campus championship for the third year in a row and went on to be runnerup national champions in New Orleans.

In the annual Singfory competition, Sigma Nu teamed up with Pi Beta Phi to win the mixed chorus division for the second consecutive year.

Sigma Nu's held positions in several honor associations, with six selected for Cardinal XXX, four tapped for Order of Omega, and three chosen for Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

After twelve years of service to the chapter, Mrs. Oran Yoes announced her retirement as housemother, effective at the end of the year. Upon her announcement one administration official commented, "I thought I would always have Old Main and Mom Yoes."

Zeta Phi Beta

Zeta Phi Beta Sorority was organized at Howard University in Washington, DC in 1920.

The sorority stresses finer womanhood, sisterly love, and scholarship.

The UA chapter of Zeta Phi Beta, Phi Theta, was colonized by the University in 1979. Phi Theta chapter is helping to establish a Sickle Cell Anemia chapter in Fayetteville. The group also sponsored several symposiums, forums, and entertainment functions throughout the year. The five charter members of Phi Theta are actively involved in Panhellenic Council, Greek President's Club, Sigma Delta Chi, New Dimensions in Agri & Home Ec, Executive Council, and Women's track.

The chapter has donated to several charitable organizations. They also visited and distributed candy and toys to some children in the hospital during Halloween. ☐

Vol. 1, No. 4

University of Arkansas

February 29, 1980

Resolution 04

Authors: S. Humphrey, R. Clark

Whereas, no adequate solution has been bound to the parking problem for on campus students,

Whereas, certain living groups have adopted the idea to reserve spaces for their residents and threaten to tow away vehicles from other living groups that park in the "reserved" spaces, Whereas, these certain living groups are composed of students of no better caliber than any other living group on campus,

Whereas, the parking lots reserved by these certain living groups are often those that have been paved and guttered by the University,

Whereas, when their lots are full, the members of these living groups as listed below park in areas behind residence halls that cannot be reserved for anyone,

Whereas, the said living groups have no right to claim domain over the parking lots in their backyards since Residence halls do not have domain over parking lots in their "backyards",

Whereas, continued allowance by the University of the reserval of University property for certain students while denying the same right to students in Residence Halls constitutes DISCRIMINATION,

Be it therefore resolved, that RHA Legislative Council request the following:

That the following parking lots be changed from their conditional reserved status for on campus fraternity or sorority students to that of availability to any on campus student. Following lots:

Sigma Phi Epsilon, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Lambda Chi Alpha, Kappa Alpha Theta, Alpha Kappa Lambda, Alpha Gamma Rho, Delta Gamma, Chi Omega, Zeta Tau Alpha, Sigma Chi, Fraternity, Pi Kappa Alpha, Kappa Sigma, Pi Beta Phi,

Whereas, maximum visitation hours are set up in men's residence halls (8 AM to 1 AM),

Whereas, the residents of the men's halls rely upon these hours and dress accordingly outside their rooms,

Whereas, no women are allowed in the living areas of these halls during closed house hours,

Whereas, maids should not be allowed in the living areas of these halls during closed house hours,

Whereas, some maids are starting their work as early as 7 AM in the living areas of these halls,

Be it therefore resolved, that RHA requests that maids abide by the open house policy in the men's residence halls.

Authors: B. Pryor

Whereas, the Draft was not dissolved when the Viet Nam war ended. It was simply put in "Deep Standby",

Whereas, there is a chance that both young men and young women will be subjected to the registration requirement in the future,

Whereas, a standby draft system will expand our mobilization capability, which could encourage irresponsible and illegal military ventures, and endangers rather than enhances national security,

Whereas, this is a gross discrimination against the youth of our country,

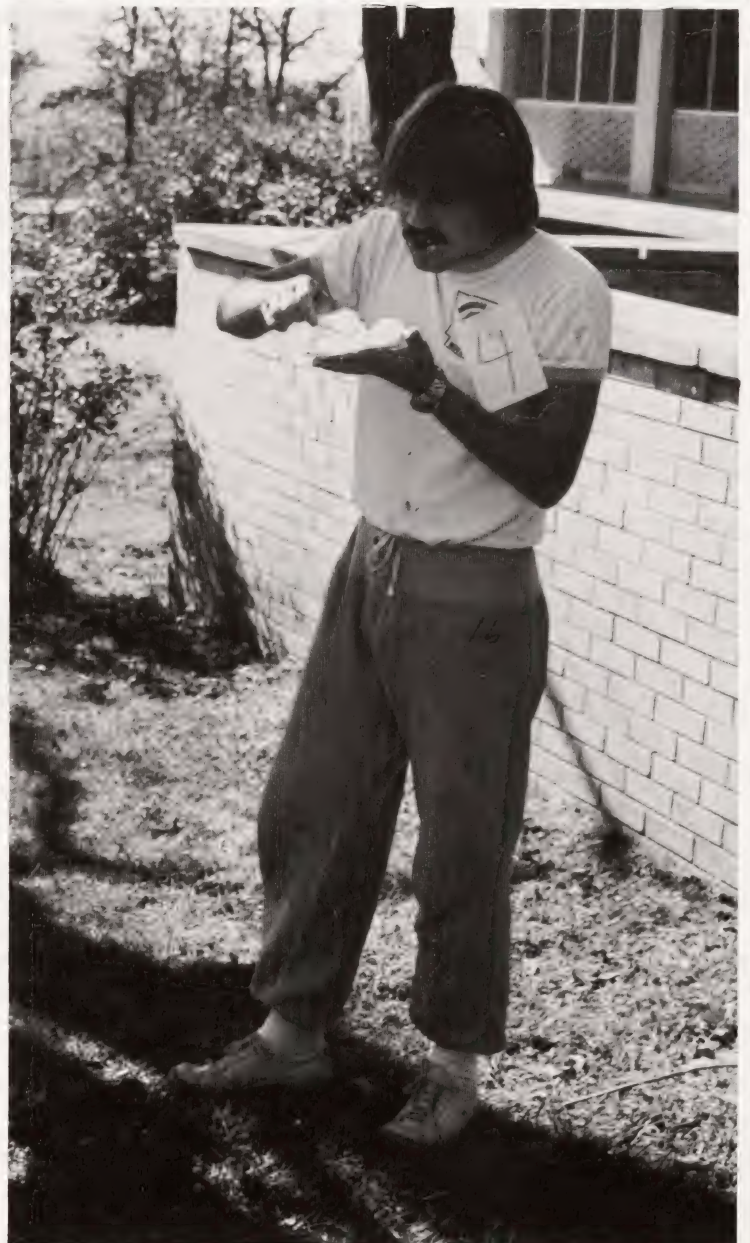

Whereas, we believe the two million men and women presently in our volunteer army adequately meet our country's

Opened in the fall of 1973, Arkansas Union boasted much greater floor space, more meeting rooms, and a bookstore you didn't have to wait in line for just to get in. It also boasted of unfinished rooms and a leaky roof.

By 1980, most of the rooms had been completed, but some administration offices had moved in, the waiting list for certain rooms was several weeks, the Razorback and Traveler still didn't occupy their fifth floor space, and the roof still leaked.

Though the Union had become a major asset to the University community, it was still a far cry from the Union a brewery had offered to build and donate to the campus.

Built in 1949 at a cost of $1,150,000, this 81,351 square foot complex was the first new building on an American campus devoted entirely to the fine arts. Designed by noted architect Edward D. Stone, who also designed Carlson Terraces and the Kennedy Center, has proven to be a valuable asset to the University.

University of Arkansas Cardinals pose during their 3-4-1 season of 1907. Coach Longman directed this team to victories over Drury twice and Missouri at Roll, losses to St. Louis, Texas, LSU and Tennessee, and a Haskell College tie(0-0). Some of these players may have played on the undefeated team of 1909 that coach Bezdek referred to as "a wild bunch of razorback hogs!"

By 1934, the university's 50-year plan was in full swing. Six of the structures which would be standing in 1979 were completed — Engineering Hall, Chi Omega Greek Theatre, Chemistry, Vol Walker, Agriculture, and Men's Gym. All other buildings standing at the time — Commerce, Hill Hall, Peabody, University Hall, et. al. — were slated for demolition.

This old view taken in the 1930's shows part of the campgrounds of the University's annual county agricultural days. Signs on the back of the autos say POPE COUNTY and contain agricultural references. Buchanan Hall and, to the north of it, Hill Hall appear in the background.

Over twenty years in the planning, HPER — Health, Physical Education, Recreation — has at last received partial funding. Minor details such as whether or not ASG wants an Olympic-sized pool located inside are yet to be decided, but the huge facility may soon be constructed. The structure will be the largest on campus and sit just south of Barnhill.

University Hall, completed in 1875, the first permanent building constructed on campus. It was built from material acquired on campus. The stone was quarried near the present infirmary. The souther tower was built to contain a clock while the north tower housed chimes. The University library, state, administration, classrooms, and some professors' housing were all originally contained in Old Main.

Other major building on campus in this 1888 view from left to right are: Buchanan Hall (men's housing), the two original University buildings, and agriculture. A greenhouse sat in Campus Drive at Maple.

In August of 1977 reconstruction of the John Barnhill Field House was officially started. The work on the home of the basketball Razorbacks increased its seating capacity from about 7,800 to 9,800.

It took almost a year and a half before the enlargement was completed. During this time the Hogs had to practice in local high school gyms. Though they did get to play their games in Barnhill fans coming to see them were treated to climbing over construction equipment. One other event that was missed by students was that no concerts could be held while the construction was in process. The reconstruction was completed on March 14, 1979.

Since before the towers of Old Main started taking shape in 1875, their heights probably stirred controversy. The fact that the north tower is some six feet taller than the south tower is usually attributed to the fact that University Hall was designed by a Northern architect during Reconstruction. The Chicagoan reportedly wanted to remind all viewers that the North was superior to the South.

Few admirers know that a duplicate of this building was the Old Main of the University of Illinois until its roof fell in in the early 1930's. The design bears a striking resemblance to Rock Island's old Chicago depot which opened in 1867 only to be destroyed by the Great Fire of 1871.

Over the years, the towers have changed somewhat. Hands no longer are painted on the clockfaces of the south tower, the more elaborate ornamentation has been removed, and the bell in the north tower is silent, as is the carillon.

Perhaps when renovation is completed, the towers' details will be restored.

In the summer of 1979 Gulf Oil Corporation donated more than $3,000,000 in equipment to the UA Foundation and for the new Biomass Research Center.

The Center, which took over all of the research concerning the production of ethanol and the creating of alternative sources of chemicals and liquid fuels, was also donated $500,000 toward the first year's operation of the Center.

In January 1980 the United States Departments of Energy and Agriculture said that they would provide a grant of $1,000,000 to construct a laboratory and office building for the Center.

The Center building will be located at the UA farm and will have 16,000 square feet of floor space along with laboratories, a classroom, and offices.

The week after Spring Break saw the 76th Engineering Week at the U of A. The week, begun by Prof. W.B. Stelzner, originated as a chance for engineering students to take a break from their studies. Traditionally held the week of St. Patrick's Day, Engine Week was moved back because of Spring Break.

Activities this year, were Basketball Tournament, Ice Cream Social, Engine Rally, Banquet, Super Saturday, and Engine Ball.

For the first time in many years, Arkansas Booster Club sponsored a Homecoming Parade this year. Floats, the Fayetteville High School Band, and other groups participated in the parade the day before the Baylor game. The route took the group from the Pit down Maple to the Square and return.

A piece of Ozark limestone left over from the construction of Old Main, the Spoofer's Stone was, until the 1940's, the romantic focus of campus. After the turn of the century, with autos and open house unheard of in Fayetteville, couples found the Spoofer's Stone a convenient meeting place.

With Shuler Town within easy walking distance, dances becoming common, students moving off campus, cars, and visiting hours, the Spoofer's Stone has been relegated to a curiosity.

The North End Zone Athletic Facility, sometimes known as the Complex, established two records for Arkansas. The UofA had the first indoor football practice area and the longest continuous length of artificial turf in the world — 186 yards.

The North End Zone, completed in 1975, provides dressing rooms, tennis, football, track, and baseball practice space, sports information offices, ticket office, Razorback Club, Hall of Fame, Athletic Director's office, and football and baseball coaches' offices and film rooms.
